4 Others Succumb To Heart Attacks During Weekend

Milwaukee —(AP)— The first weekend of Wisconsin's deer hunting season has cost the lives of 10 men. Six died by gunfire and four of heart attacks. Two men were shot to death Sunday.

Alex Schanacky, 71, of Rice Lake, was killed Sunday by a hunter who fired at a doe doe Schanacky and others in his party were hanging in a tree 17 miles northeast of Hayward.

Hit by Stray Shot

Edward S. Bronk, 19, route 2, Junction City, was wounded fatally Sunday while hunting in northeastern Oneida county. Brink was struck in the chest by one of three shots fired at a deer by a member of his party and another unidentified hunter.

Rocco Ditello, 35, Milwaukee, was hit by a stray shot while hunting along the Flambeau river seven miles north of Phillips in Price county Saturday.

David Cross, 19, Colby, died Saturday after a bullet struck him in the chest while hunting.

1961 Defense Budget Under Study by Ike

Augusta, Ga. —(AP)— President Eisenhower surrounded himself today with a team of defense and financial experts and began a thorough, item by item check on a 1961 military budget of some $41 billion.

Sec. of Defense Neil McElroy and a planeload of Washington officials flew in with the defense budget and motorcade to Eisenhower's vacation headquarters at Augusta National Golf club.

The flight landed at the Augusta airport at 8:25 a.m., 25 minutes behind schedule. So the spending seminar was correspondingly late in getting underway in the trophy room at the golf club.

The president is getting a work-play vacation at the club before his December tour of 11 nations in Europe, Asia and Africa.

Eisenhower summoned nine other officials from Washington, including Budget Director Maurice Stans and the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, Gen. Nathan Twining.

In this year's budget, for the 12 months ending next June 30, total spending is estimated at nearly $79 billion and defense costs at nearly $41 billion. The advance word in Washington was that the administration wants to hold defense spending in the new budget at $41 billion.

Democrats Concede Loss Of Withholding Proposal

Molinaro Forecasts Straight GOP Party Senate Vote Against Tax

BY JOHN WYNGAARD Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Milwaukee—The Democratic speaker of the state assembly Sunday conceded defeat of Gov. Nelson's strategic income tax withholding bill before the state legislature.

Speaker George Molinaro, head of the Democratic-controlled state assembly, made the forecast in a speech to the closing session of the state Democratic convention.

Molinaro said the Republicans who control the state senate will again provide a straight party line vote in opposition to the "pay as you go plan" eagerly sought by the Democrats to permit them to use a windfall of receipts to balance Nelson's budget. The GOP majority killed an earlier version of the bill last spring.

Sales Tax?

The Republicans, said the assembly leader, "are trying to negotiate a sales tax to go along with it," as he referred to the controversial wage and salary tax deduction proposal. In what he described as a possible requiem Sen. Henry Maier, Democratic minority whip in the upper house of the legislature, boasted that he and his mates have put through the GOP chamber 65 per cent of Nelson's program. Maier is running for mayor of Milwaukee in the spring election.

Cold Snap May Blast Fox Cities By Nightfall

Montana Storm to Move Swiftly With Record Low Expected

A new Arctic storm swept out of Canada into Montana Sunday and is now blowing toward the Fox Cities with a record cold snap expected.

Temperatures by nightfall here are expected to be 10 above zero and zero or below by Tuesday morning.

High Winds

The cold wave is the first recorded before the 23rd of November, the Green Bay weather bureau said. A record cold wave of 5 below zero was recorded in November of 1951 after the 23rd in clear, calm aid over a snow cover.

High winds, blowing snow and slight flurries are expected with the cold blast.

"This is a severe storm and a cold one," the weather bureau said. "All precautions should be taken."

temperatures thumped to 37 below zero in the Dakotas and Montana. Movement of the storm into the Fox Cities area, as charted by the Green Bay weather bureau, looks like this.

Wausau Has Snow

Light snow was falling at Wausau at 9 a.m. Eau Claire had snow, winds up to 34 miles an hour and a temperature of 18. Minneapolis, Minn., had a 12 degree drop to 7 between 6 a.m. and 9 a.m. Duluth at 9 a.m. had 8 degrees with 39 miles an hour winds. Temperatures are to start dropping as the wind shifts to Northwest about 1 p.m. in the Fox Cities. A sharp drop in the temperature will follow.

Cardinal Meyer

Archbishops Muench, Meyer To be Elevated on Dec. 14

Vatican City—(AP)—Pope John XXIII today named eight new cardinals of the Roman Catholic church. They included two Americans, Archbishops Albert Gregory Meyer of Chicago and Aloisius J. Muench of Fargo, N. D.

The pope's action increased the College of Cardinals to 79 members, its largest size in the history of the church.

The elevation of Archbishop Meyer, 56, had been expected since he succeeded the late Samuel Cardinal Stritch as archbishop of Chicago just a year ago today. His archdiocese is the largest in the United States, having nearly two million members.

Both the new American cardinals are natives of Milwaukee.

Cardinal - designate Meyer served as archbishop of the Milwaukee archdiocese from 1953 until he came to Chicago last year. Before going to Milwaukee he was bishop of the Superior, Wis., diocese, starting in 1946 when he was named monsignor.

Holds Other Posts

The new cardinal also holds two high Roman Catholic posts. He is a member of the National Catholic Welfare Conference at Washington, D. C., and is chairman of its department of education.

Archbishop Muench, 70, has been representing the Vatican as papal nuncio to Germany since World War II but has retained his post as head of the North Dakota archdiocese.

(Cardinal Muench is a brother of Joseph Muench, 316 Clark street, Neenah. He also has brothers and sisters living in Milwaukee.)

Wreckage Found; No Sign of Life

New Orleans —(AP)— A National Airlines search pilot spotted the wreckage of a 4 - engine passenger plane in the Gulf of Mexico today, leaving little hopes for 36 passengers and a crew of 6.

The Miami-to-New Orleans airliner lost contact with radio points shortly after midnight.

The crash was the second involving a National Airlines plane in six years. Another plane crashed in the gulf in 1953 taking 46 lives.

Capt. Charles H. Ruby, chief pilot for National, spotted the plane's wreckage about 108 miles east-southeast of New Orleans. His radio report said there was no sign of survivors.

At 10:20 a.m., the cost guard issued an advisory locating the wreckage 100 miles south-east of New Orleans, at the mouth of the Mississippi river.

Life Raft Seen

The coast guard's earlier report said its planes had spotted an oil slick and life raft, but no survivors.

The plane, National Flight 967, vanished in a fog that enveloped the area so quickly that Moisant International airport at New Orleans had to amend its midnight forecast. The plane was already overdue at fog-shrouded Moisant when the amended forecast came out.

The plane was about a half-hour out of Moisant when it dropped off the radar screen that had been tracking it. The aircraft was flying at 14,000 feet over the 450-mile over-water route from Miami.

Herter Asks Rules to Ban Nuclear War

Wants Reds and Free World To Arrive at Agreement

New York —(AP)— Sec. of State Christian A. Herter said today communist and free world countries must agree on ground rules to keep their rivalry from eventually exploding into nuclear war.

"That is the main task for the negotiations that lie in the months and years ahead," he said.

Herter set his goal in a speech at a National Foreign Trade council meeting.

Herter expressed confidence that on some fundamental issues which he did not identify "we can find a common language because we have a common interest."

He noted that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has spoken of the need to develop such a common language despite the continuing east-west ideological conflict.

Tremendous Project

"It will take courage of a high order and strong nerves over a long time to construct a new relationship between the antagonistic systems," he said.

"But that must be done if civilization is to survive. It is nothing less than this immense and long term project on which we are now engaged."

Sec. Herter cautioned that east-west competition will continue to be rugged "despite any ground rules or exchanges."

Khrushchev makes no bones about his ultimate aims, Herter said.

Bridge Writer Presents Series On 'The Duck'

A week-long seminar on bridge by Sheinwald begins in today's Post-Crescent. The six articles are devoted to the plan known as The Duck — not our feathered friend, as he explains, but a very important play.

All bridge fans will want to read what champion Sheinwald has to say about saving an entry with a duck, restraint and self-discipline, ducking a trump to keep control, ducking a long suit to keep control, a duck by the defenders and a duck by both sides.

Improve your bridge game by reading this famous bridge series every day. Today's column can be found on Page A-18.

$250,000 Loss In Stratford Fire

Stratford, Wis. —(AP)— A spectacular $250,000 fire Sunday night destroyed David's department store, 11 apartments, a tavern, four bowling alleys, the post office and the soil conservation office, all housed in one large brick building.

About 15 occupants of the apartments on the second floor of the 2-story brick building in the heart of this little Marathon county community escaped without injury. However, they were forced to flee with only the clothing they were wearing.

The quake rocked central and western Greece and the Ionian islands.

Murder Clues Sought

Garden City, Kan. —(AP)— In a farm home far off the beaten path of this vast wheat area a four members of a respected well-to-do family were murdered over the weekend.

Herbert Clutter, 48, his wife, Bonnie, 45, their 16-year-old daughter, Nancy Mae, and 15-year-old son Kenyon, were bound hand and foot and gagged. All were shot in the head and Clutter's throat was slashed.

The victims were slain by a shotgun. Neither the gun nor the weapon with which Clutter's throat was cut have been found.

Police don't know who killed the Clutters. They haven't determined the motive.

Nothing in the house was in disarray. No valuables appeared to be missing. Money which Nancy had placed in an envelope for church lay on her bedroom dresser alongside a diamond ring.

The coroner, Dr. Robert Fenton, said Mrs. Clutter, 45, and Nancy apparently were not molested sexually. He placed the time of death between 11 p.m. Saturday and 2 a.m. yesterday.

Girls Find Bodies

Two of Nancy's schoolmates, Mary Ewalt and Susan Kidwell, found the bodies. The girls customarily rode to church with the Clutter family and went to the house yesterday for that purpose. When no one answered their knock, the girls entered the house.

The Clutters were community leaders.

Clutter was a founder of the Kansas Association of Wheat Growers. He was a past president of the National Wheat

Democratic Paper Says Ike Used Rigged TV Program in 1952

Washington —(AP)— The Democratic Digest says spot commercials used by President Eisenhower during the 1952 campaign were a form of rigged TV program. A Republican spokesman disagrees.

The exchange developed yesterday when the Democratic Digest, official Democratic National Committee magazine, accused the Republicans of rigging the famous "Eisenhower Answers America" spot commercials during the 1952 campaign.

The Digest said his appearance during 1952 had been carefully prepared to appear spontaneous.

A spokesman for the Republican National Committee immediately commented: "The Democratic Digest has been asking its own questions and supplying its own answers for six years now without any noticeable contribution to the truth."

"In 'rigging' this story, they haven't made it any more believable than the others."

Arrange Mercy Flight For Mother Dog, Pups

Neenah — Police today made arrangements for a mercy flight Tuesday and the Hewitt Machine company offered the loan of its airplane to fly a man, and his equipment here to aid a mother and her four babies.

Attempts by police to help the mother this morning were futile as the mother — a stray mongrel dog — resisted all attempts to leave the comfort of the area underneath the enclosed porch at the Clarence Schroeder home on Harrison street.

The dog dug a hole to get underneath the porch sometime Sunday night and during the night gave birth to at least four puppies. At least, that is all the puppies Al Monette, Neenah dog-catcher, was able to count when he and a Neenah policeman tried to get the dog and puppies out.

"They wanted to move the 'family' to warmer quarters but the mother balked at all attempts of persuasion. The only access to the area under the porch is through a small cellar window through which one person may be able to squeeze."

Food Supplied

Food was brought and left there for the mother and the police plan to bring blankets or gunny sacks to keep them warm.

Arrangements were made through the Oshkosh office of the state conservation department to bring a conservation employee from Madison, equipped with a type of gun that will shoot a "knockout bullet," a type of shell with a needle attached that will put the dog to sleep.

Once asleep the dog and puppies will be moved to the city's kennels and the mother will wake up with her family about her in a warm and sheltered place.

The Hewitt Machine company, based at the Winnebago airport at Oshkosh, will fly to Madison Tuesday morning to get the conservation employee, bring him here, and then return him later to Madison.

Mrs. Schroeder, whose home is on Harrison street adjoining the golf course, said the dog had been hanging around the area for a week.

Attends Funeral of Woman Killed by Car His Son Drove

Courtland, Va. —(AP)— From the pulpit of a small Negro country church, an Irish diplomat has expressed deep sorrow for the death of a maid hit by his son's automobile.

John J. Hearne, Irish ambassador to the United States, told an overflow congregation of more than 500 at Zion A.M.E. church yesterday his government "will do everything in its power" to help the family of Mrs. Jossie Hamlin, 56. She was struck down on a Washington street last week by an auto driven by Hearne's son, David, 21.

The young man, who claimed diplomatic immunity in the case, said he hit Mrs. Hamlin, a widow, while trying to avoid another pedestrian.

Ambassador Hearne was invited to the pulpit by the Rev. M. D. Nathan toward the conclusion of the funeral service. Nathan assured him that "our people did not have any ill will toward him and his son. It was just an accident — something that couldn't be helped."

Cranberry Tests Show Little Contamination

Washington —(AP)— The head of the food and drug administration said today the testing of cranberries has now reached the point "where it is indicated the incidence of contamination is quite low."

"However, it is too early to make a flat statement," FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick told reporters.

Democrats Avoid Internal Dispute

Claim Hostility Toward Sales Tax While Sidestepping Challenge of Nelson's Study of Money Problem

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Milwaukee — The Democratic state organization has sidestepped an internal dispute on the critical question of state financial policy.

The principal policy declaration of the Democratic state convention here during the weekend manages to claim the standard Democratic hostility toward a sales tax, while avoiding a direct challenge of Gov. Gaylord Nelson's insistence upon a free hand in studying solutions to the state's tax and financing dilemma.

A laboriously written resolution that might be called equivocal was approved by the convention without comment by delegates who realized that it represented a necessary compromise between the anti-sales tax militants in the ranks, and the practical problems facing the Democrats who have been elected to power and especially Democratic Gov. Nelson.

$30,000,000 to finance a current budget deficit. Democratic Chairman Patrick J. Lucey announced a drive to "explain" Nelson's bill for a state income tax withholding law and distributed pamphlets to party workers intended to "change the minds of at least four Republican state senators." The Republican state senate turned down Nelson's withholding plan earlier this year and are virtually certain to kill his second bill.

Gov. Nelson's awareness of the depth of his financial problem and its probable campaign consequences was revealed in his angry speech to the convention—almost wholly devoted to his money troubles.

Nelson assailed those Republicans who have claimed that his "fat budget" is responsible for the tax deficit. Republicans balanced their budgets in recent years with tricks, he complained, ignored the growing problem of tax revision, and even now "ain't got the guts" to say where his budget should be cut.

Rockefeller Puts Sights On Economy

Calls It Answer To Labor Problem Of Automation
Buffalo, N.Y. — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller turned today to one of organized labor's main concerns — automation—and said the key to solving this problem was to expand the economy.

A healthier economy, Rockefeller said, could provide the jobs for workers displaced by automation.

Automation refers to the technological developments in industry that result in more production from fewer workers. It is at the root of many of today's labor-management disputes.

Rockefeller dealt with the subject in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the New York state AFL-CIO.

Over the weekend, he completed a 4-day tour through California, Oregon, and to Seattle and Boise, Idaho, where he was reported to have impressed Republicans with his appeal as a possible Republican nominee for president.

California and Oregon are regarded as strongholds of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Rockefeller's chief rival for the GOP nomination.

Observers felt that, although the New York governor did not create a surge to his banner in these states, he perhaps succeeded in undermining some of Nixon's strength.

"I'm for Nixon, but—" said a Pasadena, Calif., party leader after getting a look at the smiling and bouncy Rockefeller.

During his travels, Rockefeller also narrowed the date when he will announce whether he will run for the nomination.

Instrumented Animal Would be Sent Aloft Ahead of First U. S. Space Man

United Nations, N.Y. —U.N. Sec. Gen. Dag Hammarskjöld, risking another soviet protest, will leave a Finnish U. N. official in rebel Laos as his personal representative.

Hammarskjöld, now visiting the Indo-Chinese kingdom, called ex-premier Sakari Tuomioja of Finland to join him and to remain up to four weeks in Laos after the secretary general leaves next weekend to return to U. N. headquarters.

Tuomioja is executive secretary of the U. N. economic commission for Europe, in Geneva.

Officially, Tuomioja is to study the economic situation of Laos and the little country's needs in U. N. aid. But the Laotian government hopes his presence will serve as a restraining influence on the communist rebels operating in various parts of the country.

U. N. headquarters said Hammarskjöld had sent for Tuomioja "after discussions with representatives of the Laos government, and in the light of previous studies of the problems Laos is facing."

Washington —Four scientists said today they have embedded a tiny, 2-ounce radio transmitter inside a dog's body and connected it to the animal's heart.

Their plan is to send a dog of monkeys so instrumented aloft in satellites, before man goes up, to radio back heart action or other signs of hazards in space flight.

The suggested also that the first mercury astronaut to go into orbit take with him one of these radio-equipped animals.

Additional Weight
The slight additional weight of such an animal may well be justified under the circumstances," the scientists said in a report prepared for the American Rocket Society. That group opens a 5-day meeting today.

The authors of the study are Dr. Leslie Kaeburn, Dr. Alfred Breckler, Ben L. Ettleson and David W. Douglas of the University of Southern California, and a consulting agency, Spacelabs Inc., Van Nuys, Calif.

The dog used in the initial experiment was a male beagle hound 1½ years old and named "Orbit." A radio transmitter 3 inches long, an inch wide and ¾ of an inch thick was inserted entirely within his chest cavity. The dog recovered quickly from the hour-long operation.

The transmitter was powered by a tiny re-chargeable battery with an initial charge good for four hours.

Send Signals
Kaeburn said the transmitter was capable of sending signals 50 feet, more than adequate for recording within a space vehicle or direct rebroadcast from the capsule to the earth.

"Unless physically damaged, the package and its components should outlive the dog," the scientists said.

Normally, reactions of human beings during stress tests are determined by sensing instruments applied to the skin. Internal measuring systems have required passing wire through the skin of test animals with possible irritation of tissue and infection.

"We cannot meet the challenge by running away from it," he said.

Dedicate $8½ Million Catholic Cathedral

Baltimore —The celebration of a pontifical mass yesterday marked the dedication of the $8½ million Catholic cathedral of Mary Our Queen.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of the New York archdiocese, and James Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of the diocese of Los Angeles, joined 15 archbishops, about 100 bishops and more than 1,900 other church dignitaries and invited laymen at the ceremony.

In seats of honor were relatives of Thomas O'Neill, deceased apartment store owner whose bequest financed the 5-year construction.

Ask Ike to Declare Cranberry States as 'Disaster Regions'

Wisconsin Shipment Said to be Contaminated; Held in Chicago

Washington —The national cranberry stew bubbling again today with a new protest from berry growers. Chicago health officials, meanwhile, were holding a shipment of Wisconsin cranberries which they said were contaminated with the same kind of weed killer found earlier on some west coast berries.

C. P. Olsson, president of a national cranberry cooperative, asked President Eisenhower to declare as disaster areas the cranberry-growing states of Washington, Oregon, Wisconsin, New Jersey and Massachusetts.

In a telegram sent from Plymouth, Mass., to the vacation White House at Augusta, Ga., Olsson asked Eisenhower to "provide immediate relief to thousands of small farmers for losses caused by the unnecessary, untimely and imprudent action of welfare Secretary Arthur Flemming."

Flemming has been under fire from the nation's cranberry growers for a week.

Caused Cancer
At a news conference last Monday, Flemming said traces of a weed killer had been found in some of the cranberries grown in the Pacific northwest. He said the weed killer, aminotriazole, had caused cancer in rats when it was included in their diet.

The secretary advised against eating the berries until tests could be made to ensure they contained no traces of aminotriazole.

The cranberry growers immediately protested that Flemming had pulled the rug from under them just before the holidays.

Olsson is president of Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc., of Hanson, Mass., a cooperative representing 75 per cent of the industry. In his wire to Eisenhower, he said: "Initial losses already run into the millions. Eventual losses will run over $100 million. Having made the first error, Flemming is now trying to justify his position by conducting a cranberry witch-hunt throughout the nation, just before Thanksgiving."

Leading medical authorities from all parts of the country assert that no harm can come to any person eating cranberries, even cranberries treated with aminotriazole.

Wisconsin Berries
Two shipments of cranberries grown in Oregon were seized last week by health authorities. On Saturday, the Chicago board of health seized 20 tons of cranberries grown in Wisconsin and impounded them in a warehouse. The board said its tests showed four of six samples of the shipment were contaminated with the weed killer.

Sales of all cranberries and cranberry products were barred in Chicago.

Flemming announced here Saturday night his department was asking the justice department to seize the same Wisconsin shipment.

Flemming said the berries were shipped from Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., on Oct. 8. It was at Wisconsin Rapids that Vice President Richard M. Nixon said he had eaten four helpings of cranberries last Thursday night. Nixon said Saturday night he was not at all concerned and was confident his hosts would not serve contaminated berries.

The Law and You

Knowledge of Law Can Prevent Neighbor Problems

The home owners next door are known in law as adjoining landowners.

The law makes it your duty not to injure other persons or their property. The law has wisely set up special rules for next door neighbors.

If one owner damages his neighbor's property, or interferes with his use of it, the law has to settle the back fence dispute quickly. Better yet, let the parties know the law to keep the problem from arising.

Some common neighborly problems:

One. Suppose by mistake you build your garage six inches over on B's lot. You can be made to move your garage off B's lot, sometimes at great cost and trouble. So before building, why not have a qualified surveyor locate your boundaries?

Two. Mrs. Jones fights with her neighbor, Mrs. Smith. She claims that when she hangs the wash out, Mrs. Smith gives her dirty looks. She thinks Mrs. Smith spies on her. She wants Mr. Jones to raise the back yard fence to 15 feet. Can he do this? No! In such a case the law calls a fence over a certain height a spite fence.

Three. Friends Brown and White own lots next to each other. They plan to build houses. They like the idea of putting their garages in the back of the lots and sharing an eight foot driveway, half on Brown's lot and half on White's.

Is this wise? The common driveway may work fine. But what if Brown sells his lot and the new neighbor turns his garage into a work shop and then fences off his part of the driveway as part of his yard? You might need a lawsuit to find out if White can still use the driveway and have the fence taken down.

Where two people share part of each other's land, you should put this "easement" in writing and record it. This recording gives a buyer of either lot notice of the neighbor's rights and makes it binding.

When a property owner stops to realize he may live next to his neighbor for many years, he certainly will be much more sensible if he checks the law before he acts, rather than cause a neighborhood feud later on.

(The State Bar welcomes suggestions for this column and general questions about the law. Write the Law and You, State Bar of Wisconsin, Madison).

Lucey Swamps Badly Organized Opponent To Lead Democrats

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Milwaukee — A 41-year-old Irish politician of the old school will continue to boss the majority party of Wisconsin for the next two years.

Patrick J. Lucey, a Madison realtor and an aggressive political manager, was re-elected chairman of the Democratic party machine of the state in an overwhelming vote here at a delegate convention held during the weekend.

Lucey swamped Herman Jessen, the 72-year-old Wisconsin Democratic national committeeman, who insisted upon running as a gesture of defiance against Lucey and Lucey's political methods when other candidates bowed out. The vote was 896 to 301. Lucey carried every district of the state.

Ally Wins

Mrs. Marguerite Benson of Milwaukee, a Lucey ally, won comfortably over Mrs. Ethel McMurray of Stevens Point, wife of a state employee and former chairman of the Seventh district party organization. Mrs. Benson won 886 delegates to 327 for her rival.

Lucey's reelection was actually assured days ago when his enemies failed to field a candidate in time to campaign among the delegates and local party workers. Sverre Roang of Edgerton, a popular party figure, was evidently willing but decided against the venture when it appeared that he could not depend upon some of the powers of the party, including Gov. Nelson, to back him publicly.

Delegates were generally aware that Nelson and Lucey have had their private difficulties, but they took their cue from the governor who was obviously unwilling to precipitate a public row during the first year of the party's new prosperity and before what may be a hard campaign against the Republicans in 1960.

Favorite Candidate

In a vague way, Lucey's decisive control of the party organization may suggest the preliminary drift of the organization politicians on the party's presidential nomination for next year. Lucey's enthusiasm for Sen. John Kennedy is the worst kept secret in state politics and some of the fans of Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Adlai Stevenson were resentful.

Jessen's rebellion and its unimpressive showing may raise some questions among the party faithful about his position as the party's Wisconsin spokesman on the Democratic national committee and almost surely forecasts an effort to retire him in 1960. He was elected by the state delegates to the Chicago nominating convention in 1956 for a 4-year term.

The Vilas county milk rancher publicly challenged the integrity of Lucey's financial administration of the party, said some of the records were kept irregularly, and that the organization is heavily in debt to the national committee.

Carelessness?

Lucey acknowledged to delegates that his bookkeeping has been faulty, and that some of his own expenses had been carelessly charged to Jessen in the state committee's publicly released financial report.

Whether such heckling had any effect upon the delegates, however, is doubtful.

Lucey is generally regarded as a faithful lieutenant of Sen. William Proxmire, who originally arranged his election, and his impressive throttling of the revolt against him can be added to the evidence that the junior senator remains the most powerful single individual in the Wisconsin party.

Lucey pledged to field candidates "everywhere" in 1960, especially in those localities where the Democrats have been tending to concede to the Republicans.

Courthouse Control

"Until we control a majority of the courthouses we are not really the majority party and the governor and others won't have the solid base they need," he told the closing convention session Sunday.

David Rabinovitz of Sheboygan, a labor lawyer and party veteran, won reelection as party treasurer without opposition.

Michigan Governor Addresses Democrats At Houston Meeting

Houston, Texas — Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan says "the people are tired of an aimless policy" in government.

He warned Houston Democrats Sunday that "if we don't come up with something they (the people) want they could vote Republican."

Williams, speaking at a reception in his honor, said his visits around the country are designed to help the party formulate a sound platform for the 1960 presidential campaign.

Williams said he thinks Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) would give "the people an honorable administration" if elected president.

He would not speculate on who he thinks the party's presidential nominee will be.

Archbishop Muench Expresses Thanks

Bonn, Germany — Archbishop Aloysius J. Muench, apostolic nuncio to Germany, expressed his deep gratitude today to Pope John XXIII for choosing him a cardinal of the Roman Catholic church.

The 70-year-old archbishop, dean of the diplomatic corps in West Germany, said he felt his selection was "a great honor for our beloved diocese of Fargo in North Dakota," where he has been bishop for almost 25 years.

The cardinal-designate said also that "the holy father manifests his admiration for the German people, to whom I have dedicated 13 years of my life as the representative of his holiness."

The archbishop told a reporter he was particularly pleased that the pope had also chosen Albert Gregory Meyer, archbishop of Chicago, as a cardinal on the same date.

"We were both born in Milwaukee," Archbishop Muench noted.

was the late Archbishop George Mundelein of Chicago, also of German stock.

The eight new princes of the church will be elevated to their high office on Dec. 14 in a consistory in the Vatican's Consistorial hall.

Those named with the two Americans were William Theodore Heard, British dean of the Holy Roman Rota tribunal; Agostino Bea, German Jesuit who was confessor of the late Pope Pius XII; Arcadio Larraona, Spanish secretary of the Vatican's Congregation of the Religious, and three Italians: Archbishop Gustavo Testa, 73, apostolic nuncio to Switzerland; Archbishop Paolo Marella, 64, apostolic nuncio to France; and Francesco Morano, 87, secretary of the ecclesiastical tribunal.

The naming of Archbishops Meyer and Muench brings the total number of American cardinals to six, highest in the church's history. The others are Francis Spellman of New York, James F. McIntyre of Los Angeles, Richard J. Cushing of Boston and John F. O'Hara of Philadelphia.

Named Last December

Cardinals Cushing and O'Hara were both elevated by Pope John last December in the first consistory of his reign, when he increased the College of Cardinals to 74 members. Previously it had been limited to 70 members for nearly 400 years. Since the December consistory three cardinals have died.

With its new additions, the College of Cardinals will include 31 Italians and 48 prelates of other nations. Of the non-Italian contingents, the U.S. representation of six is exceeded only by France's seven.

Also Public Consistory

The consistory on Dec. 14 will be secret, and at it the pope will deliver an allocution to present members of the college naming again the new princes. The latter will be waiting at various buildings in the Vatican or in Rome to receive official notification of their elevation.

The secret consistory will around 2 or 3 p.m., the bureau added.

The cold weather is expected to invade most areas from eastern Wyoming and Colorado, northeast New Mexico, northwest Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri and northwest Illinois.

Low Temperatures

Winds up to 60 m.p.h. in parts of Kansas, the Dakotas and Montana Sunday died during the night and limited visibility was reported today at only scattered sections in western Nebraska and northwestern Iowa.

Low temperatures included 37 below zero at Helena and 32 at Butte, both in western Montana. Billings in the east had 13 below. Sheridan and Cody, both in northern Wyoming, charted 23 below zero. Akron, Colo., near the Kansas line, had 2 below zero.

Cold wave warnings were posted for most of the Rockies and the midwest, with sharp drops in temperature and snow in store for more than a dozen states.

Below zero readings were predicted for northern states, along with strong northerly winds and snow.

At Scottsbluff, Neb., the temperature dropped from an afternoon high of 64 to zero by midnight. The temperature fell 29 degrees in one hour in Denver last night.

New Storm

Helena, Montana capital that took the brunt of a record storm last midweek, reported a 20-inch snow depth with about six inches of new snow.

The new storm dropped two to six inches of new snow over Montana, but all main highways remained open. Air travel was halted, but trains and buses managed to keep near schedule.

In western Montana, authorities were looking for two missing hunters, Fred Miller and Joe Kent of Hamilton, Mont. Officers said they apparently became lost yesterday while hunting with three other men. Snow in the area is 14-16 inches deep.

legislative push earlier this year for the repeal of the so-called Catlin act of 1955 that made illegal the use of union funds in campaigns. The repeal act was achieved with the aid of some Republican votes in the senate.

Convention resolutions adopted Sunday were mostly routine and familiar party declarations but a foreign policy statement advocated closer relations with communist China.

No Set Asian-African Bloc

There was concern soon after the mass admittance of former colonial nations to the United Nations in 1955 that the Asian-African bloc would give aid and assistance to subtle Soviet influences because of its red-eyed anti-colonial attitude. But today there is growing evidence of a split, particularly between the Asian countries and those in Africa. Part of the difference of opinion is due to the pressures of red aggression apparent in Asia. But also, the Asian nations have matured in independence as their release from bondage foretold that of most African countries.

Last February the split came out in the open in the General Assembly when India refused to go along with African demands that the Provincial Government of the Cameroons not be recognized. African arguments were that the government was French influenced and would vote and act. Then last summer Africans wanted a resolution to bring the Union of South Africa up before the International Court of Justice. Although India had long protested the treatment of Indian nationals in the Union, it again led the successful Asian objections to such a move.

Asians also refused to go along with African demands for a resolution deploring the French plans to explode a nuclear device in the Sahara. True the desert may seem a longer distance from many Asian nations, but they also are increasingly aware of red pressures from China.

The Colombo Plan conference, now in session in Indonesia, has been silent to date about past colonial grievances and instead has released a report on the value of foreign aid and the improved climate in Asian underdeveloped countries for "private foreign capital as a means of economic development." This contrasts strongly with the speech made last week before the General Assembly by fiery President Sekou Toure of Guinea who called for almost complete abandonment by the French, British, Portuguese, Belgians and Dutch of African holdings and interests.

Exceptions to the African stand come from Tunisia and Morocco who have come to understand and welcome French assistance. Asian nations like Japan, Turkey and the Philippines could be expected to side with Western powers.

But the pressures of red aggression are telling upon attitudes in Pakistan, Afghanistan (despite large amounts of soviet aid and control), Burma, Indonesia and particularly India. Perhaps of even greater importance in the growing awareness of the need for friendly relations with the free powers is the maturity that has come with the responsibilities of government. No one has actually said so but clearly a lot of Asian leaders have realized that independence alone does not make a nation healthy, happy and progressive.

In Defense of Our Weather

We think it high time to say a word in defense of Wisconsin weather. From the bone-chilling, breath-taking cold of winter to the soggy, sodden, muggy heat of summer we here in Wisconsin know the extremes of weather's turbulent cycle.

Yet, who among us would be willing to exchange it for a steady diet of ideal climatic conditions?

Perhaps we're being a bit old-fashioned about it but we like to believe that most of us prefer our seasons as they are and are willing to accept such weather extremes as nature sees fit to provide.

Wouldn't it be tragic, for instance, if we never again could feel the freshness of a winter wind? And what of the excitement and altogether special feeling which attends the first snowfall? You may think now that it is cause only for alarm and bleak thoughts of a shoveling chore to come.

But what if there were to be no snow? Wouldn't it be a dreary Christmas? Would the winter season be the same?

One of weather's primary functions, we believe, is to give people an opportunity to complain. And complain we will for it has ever been that way and rightly so. But, like many of the things which fill our life from day to day and are accepted without thought, winter weather is something we would never miss until we were without it.

In our four seasons we possess something of particular value. The extremes contained therein are part of the great gift of change our location in the makeup of the world has given us.

We think we're lucky.

Canadian Natural Gas Step Nearer

After many long months of delay, the Federal Power commission has approved a $52.3 million pipeline project by Midwestern Gas Transmission company to import natural gas from Canada into North Dakota, Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin. At the same time the commission approved a $24.2 million pipeline project by Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline company at Marshallfield to transport the gas it will buy from Midwestern.

It now remains for Trans-Canada Pipelines, Ltd., to obtain permission from the Alberta Oil and Gas Conservation Board and the National Energy Board to export the gas to the United States. Trans-Canada is ready to spend $32 million for a 50-mile lateral of 30-inch pipe from Winnipeg to Emerson on the international border where the gas will be delivered to Midwestern if approval is obtained.

Here is a proposal where both the Canadian and American business firms are ready and willing to spend the money required for transportation and distribution of the gas. It is generally recognized that both nations will profit by the wider use of the gas. The American customers in Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin are eagerly awaiting this new supply of fuel and James W. Kerr, president of the Canadian company, says that the company's service to its Canadian customers will be improved due to increased efficiency if this project is completed.

Furthermore, the western producers of gas will be helped by the increased market. It is quite obviously a highly desirable undertaking for all concerned, yet in negotiations between the two foreign countries and several companies in America and one at least in Canada, it is necessary that the terms be worked out in detail and specifically agreed upon. It is of course highly desirable that both the American consumers and the Canadian producers be protected with respect to rates. This matter now has been before the people of both countries and their appropriate representatives for consideration for many long months and it is to be hoped remaining details will be cleared quickly so that construction can start next spring.

Lawmakers Can Abolish Unused Agencies to Curtail Spending

From Wisconsin Tax News

Any Wisconsin lawmaker having an attack of conscience after having authorized $419,000,000 in general fund spending for the biennium while estimated revenues — even with a $16,000,000 surplus and increasing income surtax — are $26,700,000 less than that amount, can take comfort from the fact the legislature can undo almost any part of the spending it chooses when it returns to Madison in November.

A seldom-used power of the legislature is that of abolishing functions and agencies which have outlived their usefulness.

In 1957, for example, the legislature stopped paying bounties on predatory animals. It also took the state government out of the business of operating institutions for treating tuberculosis. It also took away from the state radio council a television broadcasting station.

The earth did not tremble. Heads did not roll. Money was saved. While these were merely a sample of what could have been done if the legislature intended to move toward confining state government to essentials they should illustrate that groups putting on the pressure for more spending and empire building can be resisted successfully and with impunity.

We have several agencies which are sanctified more by longevity than by performance which should be abolished and which possibly never should have been created.

In the latter category are the music-news-sports dominated tax-supported FM radio network and the state aeronautics commission which was born of over enthusiasm for flying which prematurely and mistakenly visualized a state in which every garage would house a flyer plane.

In the category of being less respected for utility than for old age is the free library commission which successfully fulfilled the mission for which it was created at the turn of the century — the promotion of free libraries. Now, however, it has become just another of many tax-supported and while rather pleasant to have around is a lot less than essential.

Our state government is shot through with services "rather pleasant to have around" but which got a toe-hold on the appropriation ladder before it was apparent that budgets were growing faster than the tax base supporting them.

In times of high income it is easy for a lawmaker to make little distinction between public servant demand and public demand. Now that the pennies are being counted more carefully perhaps it is time to take a closer look at the merchandise.

Need More Than Crowds' Cheers To Run Country

From The Arizona Republic

Fidel Castro seems to think that all he has to do to cure his problems is to call out a crowd to cheer for him. Cheers undoubtedly are good for the morale, but as a substitute for good government they are just wind pudding.

What Cuba needs most is less cheering, less ranting against the United States of America — which wants a sound Cuba as much as do the Cubans — and more sound thinking about how to restore economic stability to the island republic. It takes more than speeches and personality to run a government.

Ralph Frakes' Letter Wins Him No Friends in the Fox Cities

Editor, Post-Crescent:

An open letter to Ralph F. Frakes, a whistler at the University of Wisconsin.

My Dear Mr. Frakes:

I'm not pleased that your letter was deemed worthy enough to receive ink in the local press. Your atrocious epistle was the most prejudiced, one-sided, nonsensical buffoonery I have ever witnessed.

First sir, I should like to know why you feel justified in waiving all the rules of etiquette in saluting our noble Vice President as "Mr. Nixon"? May I suggest that in the future you begin with "Dear Sir."

Next, I wish to express the gratitude of Appleton and all its environs for your brilliant clarification of our intellectual status. I didn't know the townspeople were no more aware of current affairs than worthless tree stumps indifferent to the passing world. I'm sure the college folk appreciate your comments, too.

The valley is not against minority groups. Personally, by best friend is a Jewish boy, but his religion makes no difference to me. I accept him for what he is: A faithful friend.

The definition of a Philistine is a person lacking liberal culture; one who rejects enlightenment or is indifferent to higher intellectual interests. I fear the nation will be in great distress when they find that Abraham Lincoln, our greatest president, was a Philistine for your definition says that Republicans are Philistines.

After reading your vicious slurs on the late Sen. McCarthy and on Mr. Catlin I feel it is my patriotic duty to come at once to their defense. I stand erect and firm in charging that your statements that these two men were "unscrupulous political opportunists" is a preposterous falsehood. May I further state my reputation on the prediction that Joe McCarthy will go down in American history as one of our greatest patriots and finest men. This, I believe black and white to be white.

Now — please tell us more of Mr. Nixon, kind sir. I am sure that you are an expert since in your early teens you were able to comprehend all the Congressional elections in far away California. This is truly remarkable. Or perhaps you're not the prodigy you seem but only a glib peruser of doubtful trash like "Senator Joe McCarthy" by Richard Rovere.

And comrades, while you feign a knowledge of current history you seem to have forgotten the election of 1956. If you're really interested in smears, I suggest you visit Adlai and Estes and examine their hands. There is still some mud beneath their fingernails.

Please explain this "Dick can't win" bit you handed us. It is completely foreign to me and like almost everything else you have said, it is obviously untrue.

If you work against the Republicans then I assume you will be working for the Democrats. The odds are ten to one that they will regret it.

And last, dear friend, the statement that warned my heart the most. I was overjoyed to hear that you would support me over Mr. Nixon.

I'll take out papers and declare my candidacy tomorrow for I know that, no matter what, one noble, loyal, valiant supporter, Ralph Frakes, will cast his vote my way.

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I would like to answer the letter of Mr. Ralph F. Frakes but this would be such a vast departure from my role as a "conservative, conforming, acquiescent fraternity-type Lawrence college student" that I cannot bring myself to commit such a sin.

I only hope, if conformity will allow me, that Mr. Frakes got a fine price for his Fox river valley birthplace and that he will eventually find his way out of the Madison degree factory.

Appleton, Wis.
P. S. Don't worry Ralph. Mr. Rockefeller (sic) and not Mr. Nixon will be the next president.

Editor, Post-Crescent:

An open letter to Ralph F. Frakes.

I do not care much for the device of an open letter. It seems to be used merely as a sounding board to show off one's knowledge and opinions. If you have anything to say to Mr. Nixon, why not write to him directly? You know his address, or can easily obtain it.

However, an open letter deserves an open answer.

Why did you include the University of Wisconsin in your address? Was it to establish proof that being a student there, you are qualified not only to tell us what we are thinking, but that you are the only one who can tell us what to think?

The fact that we (the people whose political convictions you so abhor) are paying (involuntarily, for the most part) a very great share of the cost of your stay at the university, does not obligate you to agree with us in everything, but it does, I think, oblige you to make better use of your opportunities than you seem to be doing.

In your case, I'm sure, it is a sheer waste of money, or worse. It doesn't take a college education to be different — or wrong.

You may be exposed to a formal education, but don't forget, sonny, that life can be an education, too, and is way ahead in instilling the uncommon quality of common sense — in those who have a smattering of it to begin with.

State Aids Undermine 'Home Rule' Principle

BY JOHN WINGAARD

Madison — Prof. Harold Groves of the University of Wisconsin department of economics and a tax advisor of Gov. Nelson recently observed that the burdensome property tax is the price Wisconsin has paid for home rule in governmental affairs.

It was an interesting observation. Wisconsin mayors and aldermen and county boards and others have been relatively independent and free in ruling their affairs because Wisconsin has had a basic local revenue source, levied by local officials immediately responsible to the citizens paying.

But it may not always be that way. As the dependence of local government for funds levied outside its jurisdiction increases, and the proportionate significance of the property tax declines, theoretical and actual concept of home rule will be diluted.

There are many examples. One commonly recognized in county government will suffice. A few decades ago counties hired and fired their welfare directors and subordinates as they chose. They budgeted as they chose. They made rules of eligibility for public assistance as they chose.

But no more. The county welfare department is a "county" department in name only. There are eligibility rules from Madison and Washington. There are tenure rules from both. Every period and comma is controlled outside the courthouse.

der after reading the letter of recent date which appeared in the Forum.

I am referring to the one from the University of Wisconsin student who more or less referred to the people of the Fox Valley area as a kind of "low life" type of citizen for having anything to do with the likes of McCarthy, Catlin and Nixon.

First of all the gentleman used the phrase — "a few of us" — several times in the first part of the discourse. I say thank God for that. But further on the gentleman started to "wax eloquent" and by the time he was finished the phrase had changed to — "many of us." Too bad he didn't say how many.

Secondly, the article was a fair example of the liberal mind at work. And I put a question mark after the word, work. It is fairly easy to following the thinking behind that type of "working mind."

I could go a step further and probably wouldn't be far off the track if I stated that the gentleman also believes that Whitaker Chambers, and not Alger Hiss, should have gone to prison. Or that both Hiss and Oppenheimer were martyred for their liberalism.

I'll go further and state that the gentleman's heroine is Eleanor Roosevelt.

Or that the Milwaukee Journal is the best newspaper west of the Atlantic coast and east of the Pacific coast. And that the Appleton Post-Crescent is the worst newspaper in that same area.

Wm. Buckley Jr., of National Review magazine once stated that "there is an enormous area in which the liberal does not know how to think."

Touche! And how true. Finally, the gentleman's reference to Richard Nixon. There is a fair chance that he will be our next president. If that happens it will be a rough world for Mr. Frakes to live in. He will have to learn to live with it.

He has one other alternative in case it does happen. He can always jump off the Capitol Dome in Madison.

V. Klassen
Neenah, Wis.

THE ANSWER

(George Watson, the state superintendent, nodded sagely and perhaps a little smugly. For, as he pointed out a moment later, he has several times gone on record for the idea of state control of local school district standards.

With the kind of money the state now is sending into local school districts, the state has every right to demand compliance with its views of quality and performance. Indeed, it probably has an obligation to those from whom it is extracting these heavy state taxes for the purpose, he reminded.

There it was. Twenty years ago such a proposal from a rural politician would have been inconceivable. The home rule flame always burned most brightly in rural Wisconsin, with its sturdy traditions of self-reliance and independence. Not many years ago a state school superintendent who had uttered such sentiments would have been thrown out of the room. But not a critical sound was uttered.

Things are changing, as Watson observed. Public opinion is sometimes ahead of that of the politicians, he also remarked wryly.

The price of home rule is becoming pretty expensive, it appears.

Charlie Discusses Unique Names, High-Falutin' Terms, Big Words

BY CHARLES HOUSE

Potpourri: Ever notice the eye on the dollar bill? It's located just over the pyramid on the light green side of the buck. It is meant to symbolize the portective, approving eye of God. . . In Bethany, Mo., there's a Miner and Freeze Coal company. They advertise thus: "Buy your coal from Miner and Freeze." And there's a Dr. Drill — a dentist — in Princeton, Wis., a dentist in Milwaukee named Herte, and a real estate broker in Los Angeles yclept Travis T. Lott. But best of all, there was once a fellow with a double name who had a double address: O. O. Rudrud, 5050 Bay Ridge Avenue.

House. Are we getting a little too high-falutin'? A Chicago shoemaker calls himself a shoetrician, a Hollywood undertaker does not use the words "bury" and "inter." He calls a burial an "inscophagusment" or an "immurment." And in Baltimore, a downtown department store calls janitors "sanitors." But the golden crumb for putting on airs goes to a New York necktie salesman who identifies himself as a "cravateur."

Some cities call their truant officers "attendance engineers," and their garbage collectors "sanitary expeditors." Some hold barbers refer to themselves as "chiro-tonorsors."

The tag "beauty operators" is fast disappearing from our telephone books. Now they're using such elegant titles as "hair stylists," and "beauty engineers." I can't see why I can't have a pretty title, too — like columniator, or editorialeur.

Quick, now — what's a sphymomanometer? Well, Doc, even if you don't know, it's that apparatus with the air bulb and the rubber tube you wrap around an arm when you want to take someone's blood pressure. . . And maybe you don't know it, but that medic's treasure, the stethoscope, might not have been invented if it were not for a certain fat lady. Back in 1819 Dr. Rene Laennec had a patient who was so fat he couldn't hear her heart beat. He invented a hollow tube — aond presto, the stethoscope. . .

A fellow in Australia has produced a vegetable which is a cross between a cabbage and a cauliflower. One wonders if he'll name it chloriflower and use it for making flowerkraut. . .

Which reminds me . . . in many large cities during World war I folks got so silly that almost every German name was changed and Americanized. If you wanted sauerkraut you had to ask for "liberty cabbage."

May Extend Ban on Nuclear Weapons Test

Hope to Continue Progress With Reds Sec. Herter Says

Washington — (AP) — The United States probably will make a limited extension of its ban on nuclear weapons testing if negotiations with Russia for an international test prohibition continue to make progress.

This was indicated Thursday by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter at a news conference. Herter said in response to a question that "I ages and birthplaces of every member of every household. This information is recorded. Now, if you gave your exact address on each census taking, plus the name of the household, the census bureau will go back over its records to your childhood. The bureau will then provide you with a transcript which is legally acceptable for social security, passports and other purposes. . .

would personally favor the extension, if it were a matter of weeks only while we were still talking."

He added that he had serious doubts about any longer suspension beyond Dec. 31, the current expiration date.

In taking this line he appeared to be reflecting U. S. concern over the possibility that if tests are delayed too long without the protection of an international inspection system the Soviets may secretly resume their own testing and get ahead of the United States in nuclear weapons development.

Stopped Testing
Negotiations for an international agreement have been under way at Geneva for more than a year among the United States, Britain and Russia. The United States and Britain stopped testing when the negotiations started. The Russians did so a few days later.

The U. S. delegation to the United Nations, apparently acting on last-minute instructions from the state department, voted last night against a resolution urging France to call off its forthcoming A bomb test in the Sahara.

The U. N. political committee approved the resolution 46-26. But the vote was short of the two-thirds majority needed for approval in the general assembly and was regarded as a victory for France.

In addition to his comments on nuclear testing, Herter said yesterday in his news conference:

1. Red China was "wholly in the wrong" for using force in its border dispute with India.
2. He hopes an east-west summit meeting will be held sometime between March 1 and mid-April.
3. He has been disturbed by anti-U. S. statements and incidents in Cuba and Panama — but does not view them as a general anti-U. S. trend in Latin America.

4. He is studying a Russian protest against any move by west Germany to set up a special radio transmitter in West Berlin.

5. West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will be a full participant in the allied pre-summit conference in Paris Dec. 19.

Big Promotion Planned for Linkletter Book

Publishers Aim
To Create More
Readers in U. S.

BY BOB THOMAS
Hollywood—A—Can the literary world take the big sell? The test will come this month as Art Linkletter launches his new book, "The Secret World of Kids." Says the veteran emcee: "This is the biggest promotional job ever done for the kickoff of a new book."
Linkletter is superlative-prone, but he could be right in this instance. He outlined the program for the new volume:
In Book Business
Condensation in a women's magazine with the cover line billing it as "Next year's No. 1 best-seller," A TV special titled "The Secret World of Kids" on NBC with the book featured throughout; ads concerning the show on the network, ample mentions on the Linkletter shows, "House Party" and "People are Funny," and monster autograph rallies in New York City, Long Island and Hollywood.
Linkletter is in the book business to stay. After the amazing success of his "Kids Say the Darndest Things" (460,000 hardcover, 24 million paperback), he decided books needed better selling.

"The book business wasn't being run like a business," he complained. He gathered together some potent friends—his partner John Guedel, rival emcee Ralph Edwards, Jack Bailey and the quiz tycoons Goodson-Todman, Groucho Marx, plus the backers of the Diner's club and some big magazines.

They formed a publishing firm called Bernard Geis associates, headed by the editor who prodded Linkletter into writing "Kids Say the Darndest Things."

Wider Audience
"We're not in it for money," Linkletter claims. "As you can tell from the list, none of us needs to make any more money."

"None of the partners has made any promises about selling the books. But we are aiming at achieving a wider audience among book readers and we will use our outlets to do what we can toward that goal."

The enterprise has already brought criticism from book journals and rival publishers as bringing a circus atmosphere to the literary scene.
"That doesn't bother me in the least," said Linkletter. "The people who are complaining are those who want the book business to remain Art and to reach only a small group of so-called intellectuals."

"I think more people should be reading books. If they get started with one of ours, they'll read others, too. How can that be bad?"

Big Money for Young Star, 13

Santa Monica, Calif. —Dodie Stevens, 13-year-old rock 'n' roll singer, will make $20,000 to $40,000 a year under her new movie contract.
A court approved the contract with 20th Century-Fox Friday.
Dodie's currently collaborating with singer Fabian on a movie called "Hound Dog Man."
Her agreement with 20th Century gives the studio an option of hiring her for 40 weeks at $1,000 a week or paying $10,000 each for two pictures the first year.

British Showgirl Cancels Her $52,000 Las Vegas Engagement

Sydney, Australia —(U)—Sabrina, British showgirl, said she cancelled a $52,000 appearance in a Las Vegas nightclub because her Australian manager can't get a U.S. visa.
Manager Roy Bolwell said he applied to the U.S. consulate for a visa three weeks ago and has been given no "satisfactory reason" for being refused.
Sabrina, who has been on tour in Australia, pouted "I've said goodbye to my friends a half dozen times and I'm still here. It is very embarrassing."

Russian Critic Praises U. S. Film 'Marty'

Viewed in Moscow,
First Movie on Exchange Program

Moscow — (U)—A Russian critic today had high praise for "Marty," the first of 10 American films to be shown in the Soviet Union under a U. S. - Russian cultural exchange program.
Exchange Movie
Critic Boris Galanov wrote in the government newspaper Izvestia that the film "serves the noble task of disseminating humanistic ideas and good sentiments."
The premiere here was attended by leading Soviet actors, writers and government officials. The story of the shy Bronx butcher drew moderate ate applause from the largely Russian audience.

The first Russian film sent to the United States under the exchange, "The Cranes Are Flying," had an elaborate premiere in Washington; also to polite applause. One Washington critic said the story of young lovers was a bit old fashioned in spots but probably would have appeal for American audiences.

Galanov called the plot of "Marty" rather trivial but said its "author shows affectionate concern for the destiny of the man in the street and this is precisely why 'Marty' is favorably received by cinema-goers."

He praised the acting of Ernest Borgnine in the title role and Betsy Blair as his girl friend.

Galanov said author Paddy Chayefsky and director Delbert Mann "succeeded in showing the inner life of the personages with love, tact and subtle humor."

Democratic Convention Gives Most Applause to Adlai's Name

BY JAMES BARTELT
Post-Crescent News Service

Milwaukee — Sen. John Kennedy and Sen. Hubert Humphrey, expected to be opponents in the state presidential primary next April, made the speeches at the weekend state Democratic convention, but Adlai Stevenson, who was not here and who will not be in the primary, stole the show.

That there is an undercurrent of support among state Democrats for Stevenson's making a third try for president was known before. The party convention showed its size and provided a chance for it to be demonstrated.

Delegates sat silently or furnished only scattered applause during a speech by Sen. William Proxmire as he ticked off the names of Democratic presidential hopefuls. When he mentioned Stevenson's name, the applause was more than that for all the other candidates combined.

Five hours later, so many delegates turned up to a meeting called to organize a "safe sell" campaign in Wisconsin for Stevenson that the meeting had to be held in two shifts. More than 200 delegates, some wearing Humphrey and Kennedy buttons, crowded into the room in two shifts while the main convention session was in progress.

In contrast to hospitality rooms for Kennedy and Humphrey, where buttons and other things were given away, the Stevenson backers passed around a cardboard box for contributions and sold Stevenson hole-in-the shoe pins left from 1956 for $1 each.

The meeting, organized by James Doyle, Madison, former state party chairman, approved formation of a loose committee which can expand itself to plug for Stevenson. Its members include Doyle, Nat Heffernan, deputy attorney general, and Arthur Altmeier, a De Pere native and former social security administrator.

day more than anything else is decision. It can't forge ahead when it has an administration with one foot on the brake, looking at the rear-view mirror," Humphrey said.

Humphrey drew loud applause for his frank call for a sincere civil rights program, regardless of what harm it will do to Democratic strength because of southern opposition.

"We are told if we do it the south won't like it. I say if we don't do it the world won't like us. I don't intend my Democratic party to get by with a quarter of a loaf (civil rights plank), and don't you forget that," Humphrey said. But when the long day ended, many delegates headed out into freezing weather carrying cardboard fans reading "fan the draft for Stevenson in 1960."

Powdered Milk Used for Pigs, Humphrey Says

Post-Crescent News Service

Milwaukee — Sen. Hubert Humphrey charged Saturday the agriculture department has turned surplus powdered milk, a major overseas export from the port of Green Bay, from charity programs into pig feed.

At a news conference before a speech at the Democratic state convention, Humphrey said an October order of the agriculture department will end powdered milk grants to 19 charity groups, which sent $100-million in aid overseas in the past year. As a result of state department protests, Humphrey said, the International Cooperation Agency has had to come up with $73-million to continue the program by buying milk in Holland.

"It may be business-like not to help people eat, but not only is it wicked but it is a mistake. The result of this has been that every ambassador in countries where this program has operated now has wired the state dept. asking that the program be continued."

"Now, we have to go back and pay the dollar price on the world market. It just doesn't make sense," Humphrey said.

Humphrey charged the agriculture dept. had sold 28-million pounds of powdered milk for hog feed "and it now says we have to curtail any further shipments (overseas) because the supply is low."

Monfils Reelected Eighth District Party Chairman

Post-Crescent News Service

Milwaukee — Eighth District Democrats Saturday authorized a new committee to do something about Republican Assemblyman Robert Haase giving "unlabeled editorials" as a part-time Marinette radio and television news announcer.

Owen Monfils, reelected district chairman, said the committee would be named soon. Francis Murphy, Democratic district attorney of Marinette county, however, pleaded for allowing local Democrats to correct the alleged situation because "things might boom or bust."

Sixth District Democrats picked Nick Spallas, Fond du Lac, as their new chairman in a closely contested race. Byron Adams, Wisconsin Rapids, was named new chairman by Seventh District Democrats. He replaces Mrs. Ethel Mc-

Supt. of Schools John P. Mann will speak on "The Teacher in Appleton" Jan. 21. Feb. 18, there will be a skit entitled "The Child and His Home," with discussion led by Mrs. Herbert Spiegelberg, psychologist and head of the school's social service department.

March 17, Lawrence college President Douglas M. Knight will talk on "A Parent Views the Appleton School."

Murray, Stevens Point, a candidate for state party vice chairman.

After the subject was raised by John Brogan, De Pere, Democrats from Eighth District counties joined in complaints about what Haase has been saying on WMAM, a Marinette radio station, and WLUX-TV, a station with studios in both Marinette and Green Bay. Brogan said he was complaining specifically about a "your assemblyman reports type of (radio) program" not labeled as containing partisan comments.

"I don't know what we do with this, demand equal time or get him to shut up," Brogan said.

Monfils Renamed
Jerome Reinke, Kewaunee, a state tax appeals commissioner, suggested that the district party organization send a complaint to the federal communications commission, but Murphy said the problem could best be handled without getting the federal government involved.

"I just heard about this thing this morning, and we are going to do something about it," he said.

In addition to naming Monfils to his second 2-year term as district chairman, the Eighth District caucus also named without opposition John Duffy, Green Bay, first vice chairman and James Barry, Laona, Forest county party chairman, second vice chairman. Barry replaced John Elfner, Oconto county chairman, who did not attend the convention.

The caucus, attended by about 65 Democrats, also reelected Mrs. Shirley Cherkasky, Appleton, Outagamie county party chairman, as district secretary-treasurer. The caucus also pledged unanimous support for the nomination of Barry as candidate for the state administrative committee of the party.

This was the reason for the Eighth District's designating its vice chairmen as first and second. In the past, the district has chosen two vice chairmen because of the geographical size of the district.

In addition to picking Adams as new chairman, Seventh District named Howard Hazen, Manawa, vice chairman, and Mrs. Elwin Sigmund, Stevens Point, secretary-treasurer. The three caucuses ap-

Inflation works in fits and starts. Now is the time to stop further inflation—before it gets under way again.

You can plan your future with confidence

ONLY WHEN INFLATION IS BEHIND BARS

Inflation isn't behind bars yet—even though prices have leveled off these last few months.

But you can help put inflation behind bars. And as you do, you will be helping to build the kind of America we all want, with a better standard of living for everyone.

The steady, continuous prosperity we all seek can come only from having a stable dollar, safeguarded against inflation.

With a stable dollar, the raises we get would actually be raises in buying power, not merely a means of meeting rising prices. And a stable dollar will give us all added confidence to save . . . to build . . . and to grow.

Right now there is a pressing need for more capital to keep pace with the demands of our growing nation. We need more schools, more homes, more highways. We need to replace obsolete factories, build more efficient machinery. All of this, in turn, creates more jobs and opportunities. Where is the money coming from?

Much of this "growth money" must come from savings.

Your savings can help. And the economies government makes can also help by releasing more money for productive purposes. This way, we will be working to build a prosperous, confident America, freed of the fear of further inflation.

Stay on your guard against further inflation

1. One thing you can do is to let your senators and congressmen—now that they are home—know your point of view about cutting government spending. You may be surprised how much influence a personally written letter or visit will have. They may believe exactly as you do, but if they hear mainly from pressure groups who demand more services and projects, it is hard for them to hold the line against inflation.

2. You can take the same action with representatives of your state and local governments. They, too, may appreciate being reminded that you favor tightening up on expenditures.

3. Whenever you shop, check carefully on prices and values. That way, you're sure of getting your money's worth.

4. When you buy wisely, you will find it easier to build up a nest egg which will give your family that extra protection you want them to have. And as many of us add to our nest eggs, we will be providing the capital for more jobs and greater opportunity for all.

Such actions as these work for a growing America and a stable dollar, too.

Brought to you in the interest of every American who is concerned with preserving the value of the dollar.

Answers to Questions on Social Security

Q. I am 58. Before my boy died two years ago he was my sole support. After he died, I couldn't get benefits because he was still married—this, in spite of the fact that they were separated two years. Is there any help for me in the new law?

A. A major feature in the new law provides for pay-ments to the aged dependent parents of insured workers who have died, even if these workers were survived by an eligible widow and children. Previously payments could not be made to dependent parents if the worker was sur-vided by a widow, widower or child. In all these cases, how-ever, a new application will have to be made even though a prior application may have been made and the claim dis-allowed.

Q. My wife was 62 in May 1959. She worked a little un-der social security. Since I won't retire for several years, should she apply for her own benefit or would she lose parents of insured workers wife's benefits later when I retire?

A. At her age she needs 16 quarters of social security credit to be eligible to her own benefit. If she is eligible, she may take her own bene-fit and then wife's benefits later when you retire. A wife always gets the higher be- tween her own benefit and her benefit as a wife.

The social security administration office is in the courthouse annex, 401 S. Elm street, Appleton.

Everything about a diamond can be found in a library book, but it takes years of experience, study and a trained eye to know the difference.

The same as your doctor or lawyer, your jeweler gets his knowledge from school and books. But his many years of actual experience in selecting, buying and selling diamonds is what counts. That is why you have complete confidence and trust him.

When buying a diamond for your loved one, which is also a lifetime investment, you must have complete confidence in your jeweler. Our years in business is your assurance and guarantee of a honest value and a square deal.

You must be satisfied and happy with your purchase, before I am satisfied. Just a small down payment is all that is necessary and you can take 2-years to pay without interest or carrying charges.

Mill Drivers Honored for Safety Record

Thilmany Workers Win 1st Place in Small Fleet Class

Kaukauna—Winning of first place in the small fleets division of the National Safety Council's twenty-eighth national fleet contest was celebrated by drivers of Thilmany Pulp and Paper company at a dinner Saturday night.

The company hosted the drivers at Bernie's Supper club. Win Hess, foreman, presented the award to the company's oldest driver, George Huss, who accepted it on behalf of all the men. Hess received the award last month at the National Safety Congress at Chicago.

It is based on the company's safety performance from July 1958 through June 1959. During this time Thilmany drivers operated 150,000 miles and had no accidents.

Fleets in Contest
Over 2,000 fleets competed in the contest, according to the National Safety Council. The combined average frequency rate was 1.31 accidents per 100,000 miles of driving.

The insurance carrier for Thilmany Pulp and Paper company honored individual safe driving records at the dinner. Men receiving awards include Marvin Busse and Gerald Smith, 22 years; Raymond Britten, 20 years; Robert Wegand, 17 years; Albert Kersten, Jr., 16 years; and Hugo Wenzel, 15 years.

Other drivers honored and years without accidents include Phelan Femal, 12 years; John Grissman, 10 years; William Meulemans, nine years; William Schmitz, Jr., eight years; Dale Kilgas, seven years; LeRoy Riemer, six years; George Huss, three years; and Leo Wilz, two years.

Sen. Proxmire To Appear at Kimberly Fete

Kimberly — Sen. William Proxmire will be the featured guest at a potluck supper for Outagamie and Fond du Lac county Democratic party members at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Clubhouse here.

The supper will climax a half-year membership contest by the counties. Mrs. Sylvester Lenz is chairman. Heading the Fond du Lac organization will be James Megellas, director of the state's eastern district. Fond du Lac county won the membership contest, 528 to 511, at the half-year mark.

Outagamie county membership has now topped the 600 mark, highest in recent years.

City Firemen Get Two Calls

Kaukauna—Oil burner trouble resulted in two calls for the city fire department Friday. At 11 a.m. firemen were called to the Mrs. Paul Buelow home, 107 E. Ninth street when the motor on the oil burner overheated. Firemen advised her to call a repair man.

At 1:45 p.m. firemen were called to the Norman Quaintance residence, 103 W. Third street when faulty operation of the oil burner caused smoke. There was no damage.

Toboggan Mishap

Little Chute Boy, 5, Rescued From River

Little Chute — A 5-year-old Little Chute boy was rescued from the icy waters of the Fox river by two playmates Saturday after a tobogganing accident.

Billy Hammen, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hammen, 421 W. Lincoln avenue, was pulled from the frigid water by two neighborhood pals.

The boy with Paul Bongers, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bongers, 408 W. Lincoln avenue and Ken Vanden Burgt, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vanden Burgt, 316 W. Lincoln avenue, were on their second toboggan run down the hillside off Lincoln avenue which parallels the river.

Shoots Into Water

The boys said the first downhill ride was successful but on the second they failed to make a turn. Paul and Ken toppled off the toboggan but Billy shot off the bank with it into the water.

Apparently, Billy's tight snowsuit provided enough buoyancy to keep him afloat. His companions said he stayed on top of the water and started splashing and paddling his way back to shore. When Billy got close enough to shore Paul and Ken helped him out of the water. He was drenched and with the temperature in the teens his wet clothes soon began to freeze.

While Billy was being pulled from the water, a girl sledding on the hill ran to inform a neighbor, Mrs. Gerard Van Hoof. Mrs. Van Hoof called the village rescue squad. When volunteers arrived Billy was out of the water.

The boy was wrapped in blankets and taken home. Billy's mother said Sunday that he apparently suffered

Trucking Firm Pays $80 Fine

5 Violations Found And Fees Levied For Each at Chilton

Chilton — A Sturgeon Bay trucking firm, Sawyer Dray Line, paid fines in justice court totaling $80 on five traffic violations. They were, no stoplight, $10; expired registration, $15; no registration, $15, and two counts of operation without permit fees being paid, $20 each.

An illegal passing violation resulted in fines for Kenneth R. Nielson, and his employer, the Leibman Packing company, both of Green Bay. The arresting patrolman discovered without a chauffeur's license. Nielson paid fines totaling $25. The firm was fined $10 for employing the driver without the proper license.

The H. T. and Sons Silo company, Rochester, Wis., was fined $15 for an unmarked load projection and $10 on a muffler violation. Paul Engel, 202 Cleveland street, Brillion, was fined $10 for an unmarked load projection and Alvin Luniak, 31, route 4, Appleton was fined $10 for inattentive driving.

Eight persons paid $10 fines for speeding. They were Joseph C. Trieber, 21, Shiocott; Herman F. Kath, 48, Wayside; Charles Swartz, 22, route 3, Appleton; Anton T. Huspek, 47, of 319 N. Bennett street, Appleton; James Rozman, 36, route 2, New Holstein; Harvey Hennigiles, 47, Milwaukee; James Grigg, 21, Milwaukee, and David A. Dumke, 23, Marinette.

Five Accidents Keep Kaukauna Policemen Busy

Kaukauna — Drivers had trouble controlling their cars on the snow covered streets and city police were kept busy with five minor mishaps Friday and Saturday.

Two of the accidents involved drivers who skidded into arterial signs while attempting a turn. Two others involved drivers skidding into the rear of another car.

There were no injuries in any of the crashes and property damage was minor.

Auxiliary Picks Three Delegates

Little Chute — Delegates to the county council meeting at Kaukauna Tuesday have been named by the American Legion auxiliary of the Jacob Coppos post.

Bill Geurts rapped a 558 set for the only other league honor count.

Smoking Has No Effect on Blood Levels

Two Doctors Find Cholesterol Stays Same After Tests

Chicago—Smoking appears to have no effect on blood cholesterol levels, according to a study conducted by Dr. Irvine H. Page, Cleveland heart specialist, and two associates.

If smoking does play a role in causing heart attacks, it is not through any effect on cholesterol, the fat-like substance in the blood that has been implicated as a cause of heart attacks, they concluded on the basis of their study.

Dr. Page said it has been suggested that cigarette smoking is in some way related to heart attacks and hardening of the arteries, but this is difficult to prove.

Cholesterol Rise
Many investigators believe the evidence is good for an association between high cholesterol levels and hardening of the arteries. So if it could be shown that cigarette smoking is followed by a rise in cholesterol levels, this could be interpreted as evidence for a relationship between smoking and hardening of the arteries.

However, the new study failed to show a rise in cholesterol levels after smoking. Twenty laboratory personnel, including 15 regular smokers and five nonsmokers, participated in the study. They smoked two non-filtered cigarettes within a 10-minute period, inhaling deeply. Blood cholesterol levels were measured before they smoked and at 10-and-30-minute intervals afterwards.

The levels remained "essentially unchanged" in most subjects. There seemed to be no greater variations in the habitual smokers than in the nonsmokers.

Lack of Effect
The lack of effect of smoking on the cholesterol levels in the nonsmoking persons was striking, the doctors said. They had smoked two cigarettes with inhaling, and this could be considered to be "a not inconsiderable stress."

At the end of the smoking they felt dizzy and chilly, but showed no cholesterol level change. The study showed the relative stability of serum cholesterol levels, at least for short periods. The slight stress of blood drawing or smoking was not sufficient to modify them, the doctors noted.

The long-time effect of smoking on serum cholesterol is not known, but it is possible that varying cholesterol concentrations may result from changes in eating habits caused by smoking, they said in conclusion.

These Days

'Gang's All Here' Describes Tragic Lives of Unqualified U. S. Presidents

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York — Plays about presidents, and politics are written with difficulty because residents of the United States do not hold office by divine right or primogeniture or any contrivance of heredity. Therefore they neither claim nor aspire to perfection. They are often too ordinary even for the modern stage. They are chosen by politicians for reasons which more times than not are unrelated to character, morals or even ability and are elected by the people as the lesser of two evils. Occasionally, a truly noble person is elected to the presidency but by the law of averages, that seldom happens.

"The Gang's All Here" is a play about Warren Gamaliel Harding, 29th president of the United States, who was the choice of the people over James M. Cox. Both were newspapermen in Ohio; neither of them was presidential material. Harding, however, was more handsome than Cox although not as bright. Harding was actually photogenic like Clark Gable. He was the first president to capture the female vote.

Dramatic Era
As done in this play by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, Warren Harding knew he was a better poker player than president, and he declined to run for that office, was pushed into the nomination by his poker-playing, bourbon-drinking cronies and suffered the moral consequences of his folly. As I have sat in smoke-filled rooms and have witnessed the negotiations for candidates, I can say that this improbable scene could be authentic except for one defect; the smoke on the stage was on thick enough.

However, for some reason the authors fictionalized a fragment of history which was actually more dramatic than they tell it.

The play is about the disreputable Ohio gang which infested the White House and robbed the country like a minor Capone outfit, but there were others in the Harding administration who were of unquestioned fitness for public service: the secretary of state, Charles Evans Hughes; the secretary of the treasury, Andrew Mellon; Will Hays was for a time postmaster general; Henry C. Wallace, father of the more recently well-known vice president, was secretary of agriculture; and Herbert Hoover was secretary of commerce.

Achieved Some Mobility
As Melvyn Douglas plays the role of Harding (unquestionably called Griffith P. Hastings in the thinly disguised play), he starts as an altogether unlovable character and ends in the heroic tradition of the ancient Greeks.

Douglas is no longer the debonair philanderer, seducing and seduced; he reaches majestic qualities as an actor. Although the play is about tawdry personalities, Douglas portrays Harding as a simple, even a stupid, vain, haggard man who seeks refuge in poker, bourbon, and frowzy gals but who, when he really tries to have one like himself in the presidency, becomes a man for all that. He kills himself and dies a gentleman. This is in the play; actually Harding died of a heart failure.

And although as I write these words, it sounds melodramatic, it is never cheap, never without a proper overtone of character. It is truly a delightful piece of theater and a relief from the wearisome wisecrack plays which have been the vogue in recent years.

How little the American people really know about their presidents and presidential candidates. As one looks at the galaxy that is presenting itself for 1960, it is only possible to hope that most of them will sink into the oblivion whence they emerged and that the country will thus be saved. The most suitable men, some who might even be elected if presented to the voters, could not be considered in the smoke-filled rooms where such decisions are made by men who should never have been chosen to make them. Scoring Title To Sophomore

Bob Wurdinger Leads Kaukauna High Grid Team

Kaukauna — Bob Wurdinger, sophomore fullback, captured scoring honors for the Kaukauna High school football team this season.

Wurdinger, who also earned a letter as a freshman, scored seven touchdowns for 42 points to pace the Ghosts.

Bruce Ludke was runnerup with 30 points while Jim Steger had 24. Pete Bachhuber counted 14 points, all on placement kicks after touchdowns.

Scoring one touchdown each were Bruce Bay, Myron Zachowski and Kenny Kavanaugh.

As a team, Kaukauna scored 128 points in seven games. The final game on the schedule with Kimberly had to be cancelled because of snow. Opponents managed only 52 points, an average of 7.3 per game, against the Kaukauna defense.

Kaukauna finished the Mid-Eastern conference season with a 4-2 record, good for third place. Neenah and Clintonville shared the title. The Ghosts were 5-2 for the season with a win in their only non-conference tilt.

Your Problems

School Teacher Relies on Ann's Decision for Peroxided Pupils

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a teacher in a high school. The girls in the class have agreed to abide by your decision. I've read this letter to them and they have okayed it.

What do you think of high school girls who dye their hair? I don't Ann Landers mean putting a rinse in the shampoo or peroxide high- lights here and there. I mean a professional dye procedure which takes about three hours.

A certain clique of girls in our school has gone in for dyeing their hair. Some have changed the color of their brown hair to red. A few brunettes have gone blonde. I agree they look well groomed because their hair gets weekly attention. They admit it looks "unnatural" but say "It's striking and attention- getting." Comment please.

DEAR ANN: I'm a work- ing gal who makes just enough money to get along. The prob- lem is, I have a girl friend who is so clever about mooch- ing small amounts it makes me angry.

Example: We ride the bus together almost every morn- ing. Frequently she says "Put my fare in, Grace, I haven't got any change." At coffee break it's always "Pay for me, Grace, I'll get yours to- morrow." (Tomorrow never comes.)

Last week the gals in the of- fice pitched in for a shower gift for a bride. She asked me to put in her dollar as she didn't have any singles. I boy friend sure smells. Popular Opera Singer Applauds Teen-Agers

BY VIVIAN BROWN

"Young people are more interested in hearing operatic and musical comedy music these days," says Charles K. L. Davis, Hawaiian tenor. (The "K" is for Keonaonalani, the "L" for Llewellyn.) The Hawaiian, on an American tour, emphasizes that this change indicates they have a greater appreciation for good music.

Charles, a 29-year-old mixture of English, Welsh and Hawaiian, is enjoying his new-found popularity with the younger set.

"They usually write for my picture, and those who have seen me on TV send along compliments. Many teen-agers know my records, but not much about me. They expect to see a younger boy, if they haven't seen me on the air."

If you don't know what he's like, here are some vital and incidental statistics:

Born in Hawaii

Charles was born in Honolulu. He's a bachelor. (But it's too late, girls, he's taken. Plans are in the making for a wedding. He's engaged to a girl who works at the Italian consul's office in New York.)

His hobbies include stamp collecting and old cars. (An old Rolls Royce was paid off long ago by renting it out.) He is a skindiver. His mother brought him up in the old-fashioned Hawaiian tradition that the sea is the place to fish for your food. Charles goes down without aqua-lungs, 50 or more feet to spear fish, and attributes his powerful singing voice to breath control learned in diving.

Most native Hawaiians go

spear fishing, and enjoy sports, one reason why there is very little delinquency in Hawaii, he says.

Made Concert Tour

Charles attended the University of Hawaii, and the Julliard School of Music and was winner of the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air last year. He has made a national concert tour with the Bel Canto Trio. He is a disappointment to his physician father who was hoping Charles would follow in his footsteps.

"I never could get music out of my mind," he says, "so there was no point in studying medicine." He is an accomplished pianist and organist and sang and played the organ in his neighborhood church. His favorite album is "Prayer for Peace." Another is his album of romantic arias, very popular with young and old.

Charles carries this romantic theme out in real life. "I may not be able to cook," he says, "but I'll be able to give my wife plenty of affection."

In Good Taste Propriety of Invitation Questioned

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a married couple, friends of mine, had a house party and asked the girl friend of the husband's brother (who lives with my friends' family) to spend the night at their house in order to save him from having to make the long trip to her house late at night to take her home. The girl's mother objected to her daughter spending the night there; her reason being that it wasn't the proper thing to do. The girl obeyed her mother's wishes and did not stay. I agreed with this girl's mother as I did not think it was proper either, but my friend feels that it was an insult to her inasmuch as it insinuated that the mother did not think her a fit chaperon for her daughter. This has caused some feeling out between the sister-in-law and the girl's family. Wasn't the mother right in not allowing her daughter to spend the night at her boy friend's house?

Answer: The girl having been invited by a respectable married woman could have spent the night at her house with perfect propriety.

Second Helpings

Dear Mrs. Post: When dining in someone's house, is it considered bad manners to accept a second helping of food? I say acceptance shows one likes the hostess' food and it is a compliment. My mother, however, insists it is wrong and is making a glutton of oneself. What is your opinion?

Answer: You are quite right. While you should not ask to be served a second helping, if one is offered to you, you most certainly may accept it.

An Invitation With No R.S.V.P.

Dear Mrs. Post: Does an invitation reading "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, At Home, Saturday, the 5th of December, 5 to 7 o'clock require a written acceptance? Even if no answer is requested, would a written reply be more courteous nonetheless?

Answer: No answer is required, and to send one would not help the hosts in estimating how many guests to prepare for because so very few others will answer.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her booklet No. 502 "Etiquette of Letter Writing," send 25 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Moving Maids Make Home Change Easy

Vows Said In Catholic Ceremony

Miss Dolores Mary Weyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weyers, route 2, Black Creek, was married at 11 a.m. Saturday to Joseph J. Van Bostel. He is the son of Peter Van Bostel, Sr., 704 N. Grand avenue, Little Chute. The Rev. Henry Scholten officiated at the double ring nuptial high mass at St. Mary Catholic church, Black Creek.

Miss Mary Weyers, Black Creek, attended her sister as maid of honor. The bridegroom's brother, Richard Van Bostel, Little Chute, was best man. Louis Weyers, Black Creek, a brother of the bride, and Robert Van Bostel, Freedom, nephew of the bridegroom, ushered.

A noon dinner was served at St. Mary Catholic church hall which was also the setting for the evening reception. The newlyweds will reside in Nichols when they return from a trip to the southern states.

Mrs. Van Bostel is a first grade teacher at the Nichols State Grade school. Her husband is employed at Menasha Woodware corporation.

Prussian Princess Builds New Life in Texas After Husband's Early Death

Amarillo, Texas—After her husband dies, a royal princess goes about rearranging her personal life in much the same fashion as thousands of other widows.

The neighbors of Cecilia Hohenzollern Harris, the Prussian princess who came to Texas as a bride 10 years ago, believe she's here to stay.

Her Oklahoma-born husband, Clyde K. Harris, died unexpectedly last year. Many assumed his wife would dispose of his interior decorator business and go back with their small daughter to live in Germany.

Last summer Princess Cecilia and her daughter Kira Alexandrine, 5, spent three months with relatives in Germany and England.

"Glad to be Home"

On their return to Amarillo, the princess told friends: "It was a fine trip, and of course I enjoyed seeing my family—but I'm glad to be home."

Blonde, hazel-eyed Mrs. Harris then busied herself with reopening her comfortable home and getting pickled Kira started in kindergarten.

While she had said before that she fully expected to remain here, friends thought they detected a note of uncertainty. They say any such doubt has vanished.

It was 10 years ago this fall that Clyde Harris, a former Army lieutenant, brought his bride to start a new life on the Texas plains. She vowed at the time, with quiet determination, that she would learn to like it here.

A Storybook Courtship

Their wedding capped a storybook courtship.

Harris, who grew up at Maud, Okla., and was a soda fountain clerk as a boy, had entered the Army as a private. By the end of World War II he was a lieutenant. With U.S. occupation forces in Germany he was detailed to search out a stolen treasure in paintings and gems.

Princess Cecilia and Harris met at Darmstadt, where she had been staying. She is a daughter of Crown Prince Wilhelm, a granddaughter of Kaiser Wilhelm II and a great, great granddaughter of Britain's Queen Victoria.

In a setting spiced with intrigue, the young lieutenant found time to woo his princess while tracking a 40-million-dollar collection taken from the Duke of Hesse during the war.

Until Harris could build the handsome French provincial home he planned, they lived in a four-room apartment here.

Cecilia, born to family eminence, but—as her new friends were to discover—essentially shy and reserved, embarked on a vast readjustment.

As a housewife she was untrained to cook or sew. She couldn't even drive a car, and still can't.

Gradually she made her place in this new and strange community. Clyde, with a talent for friendship, helped his bride get to know a number of people. A few came to be close friends.

As his business flourished, Harris built the home he had designed. Into it went many reminders of his wife's former life—busts of Queen Victoria and the Kaiser, her family coat of arms, china commemorating special events in Hohenzollern history. Mingled with these were art objects Harris had collected.

In October of 1954 their daughter arrived. They named her for former Grand Duchess Kira, who is the wife of Cecilia's brother Louis Ferdinand.

Learned to Cook, Sew

Mrs. Harris long since had learned to cook and to sew. She is a United States citizen.

Nowadays her activities center about her daughter, the business inherited from her husband and the management of her household.

Mrs. Harris looks in regularly at her business establishment and makes any major decisions. Otherwise she leaves operations to a manager and staff.

At home she has a nurse to care for Kira, a maid who comes in every day and a man to do the yard work.

She entertains once a week on average. Her preference is for small dinner parties affording quiet chats with guests. Mrs. Harris prepares the meals herself.

Once ignorant of sewing, she has grown skillful at the art of needlepoint. Her latest project, designed by Harris and carried out since his death, is a handsome rug with intertwined C's—the first initial of each—in the center.

Scout Troops Will Meet for Winter Program

Representatives of junior high school Girl Scout troops met Friday at the YMCA and discussed a mid-winter activity for all troops, such as roller skating, a square dance, ice skating or gym swim night. A spring program was also discussed and individual troops will vote on an activity.

Officers were elected. They are Katie McMahon, president; Bonnie Donnelly, vice president; Linda Butler, secretary; and Margaret Gorski and Linda Beebe, telephone co-chairmen. Advisers are Miss Monica Hickinbotham and Mrs. John McMahon.

Plan Yule Party

Wittenberg—Mrs. Harvey Hartleben, Mrs. Fred Miller and Mrs. Norman Rades were hostesses when the St. John Lutheran Ladies Aid society met at the church Thursday afternoon.

Plans were made for a Christmas party for their next meeting Dec. 10 with each member to invite two guests. A potluck lunch will be served.

Important, Useful Play To Know Called 'Duck'

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
U. S. Masters Team Champion

One of the most important animals in a bridge player's zoo is the duck. This is the name given to a very common and useful play — allowing an opponent to win an early trick in a suit rather than the same trick later on. South dealer.

Today we see an example of the duck in its simplest form. South must make the play in handling the diamonds.

It is in South's power to win the first and second diamond tricks. Then, however, the opponents will be able to win the third diamond trick. Dummy's last two diamonds will be good, but there will be no way for declarer to reach the dummy. The established diamonds will languish in the dummy, while South goes down at his game contract.

Leads Low Diamond

South avoids this fate by ducking one of the early diamonds. That is, he leads a low diamond from his hand and plays a low diamond from the dummy, allowing the defenders to win the trick without even a struggle.

If South gives up the first

Marriage Licenses

Applications for marriage licenses have been made at County Clerk Pfeffer's office by Jerry F. Guckenberg, 2115 N. Superior street, and Deanna S. Maloney, route 1, Menasha; Don L. Koepke, 1706 Carver lane, and Marion R. Zordel, 534 E. South River street; Dennis R. Hilker, route 2, New London, and Carol J. Herres, 122 E. Wolf River street, New London; LeRoy A. DeValk, 402 Elm street, Combined Locks, and Carol Ann Jakl, 127 Taylor street, Kaukauna.

diamond, he can win the second and third diamonds with dummy's ace and king. By this time dummy's last two diamonds will be good. Even more important, declarer will then be in the dummy, ready and willing to win tricks with those last two diamonds.

By this means South wins four diamond tricks. His contract is thus easily made.

Saves Entry

The purpose of the duck in this case is to save an entry to dummy. You are willing to give up either the first or the second diamond trick to an opponent, and you thus make sure that dummy wins the third diamond trick.

The play would not be necessary if dummy had a side ace. You could take the first two diamonds, give up a diamond, and then get back to dummy with that side ace. Since entries are often scarce, as they are in the actual hand, the duck is a very useful play to know about.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S — 7 6 4, H — 8 7 3, D — A K 8 6 4, C — 7 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades. Your hand isn't strong enough for a response of two diamonds, so you must choose between a raise to two spades and a response of 1 NT. The raise with only three small trumps is unusual, but describes your strength better than the response in no trump.

Calls Superhighways In Europe Better Than Those In U. S.

Baltimore — Traffic Director Henry Barnes says much of what Europeans are doing with superhighways—particularly the German autobahns—is as good or better than in America.

"But in the traffic field, Europe's cities are where ours were 25 years ago," he added, as he returned yesterday from a 2-month tour of eight European countries.

Barnes called London's Hyde park circle "one horrible rat race," adding: "If I had anywhere near a traffic mess like that here, why I wouldn't last a minute."

HIS AND HERS—

BY MURIEL STAFFORD, GRAPHOLOGIST

any hope for happiness.

Blunt Husband

"... Can you see any hope for happiness when you compare my wife's handwriting with mine?"

If you wanted a submissive spouse you should have chosen someone who writes less forcibly. Don't try to break your wife's will. You may well break your marriage instead!

You and your wife have much in common. You are both intelligent, warm-hearted string-willed people, ruled by your deep emotions. You both want your own way but she's more open-minded than you are. Besides, she's ahead of you in finesse.

The baseline of your writing is jerky. (Word endings are cut short or pointed. Letters are written with heavy pressure and pressed close together. Letters such as "a" are open at the top. In brief, you find it difficult to see any other point of view than your own and you never hesitate to speak your mind. You express yourself freely and with finality.

Your wife's writing is also efforts. Don't try to compete. Respect her desire for dominance just as you demand that she respect yours.

Develop tact and consideration. Your "hope for happiness" won't be achieved through heavy-handed dictation.

(Miss Stafford welcomes letters from her readers. They cannot be acknowledged but the most interesting ones will be used in her column.)

Our Children

All Small Boys Hate Soap, Water and Baths

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Is there any way by which one can entice a boy almost 11 years old to wash his hands and face and take his evening bath? We have four children, he the oldest. I thought that when he reached this age I could write him off as to baths, clean clothes, some degree of cleanliness. But No! Emphatically No!"

There is one bright ray of hope for all such mothers and their name is legion. The time does come when a few years later the dirty boy turns into the almost fanatically clean one.

What matters just now is getting along with him. First we have to recognize that at this stage of growth, very few boys of this age like water when it is in the wash basin or the tub. We have to remind, order, push them into using it with a cake of soap. We have to insist on clean hands at the table and clean feet in the bed. We can, if we are worn out completely by this losing battle, skip a few nights for the tub bath. That might make the young water-hater feel a bit less put on and maybe take a Wednesday night-Saturday night tub without too much resistance. (Maybe?) In any case it would allow his weary mother a couple of easier evenings.

Common Behavior
This disregard of family standards of cleanliness is characteristic of boys in this state of mind and body. They are not ready as yet to accept the rites of cleanliness and they would not be likely to acquire the essential habits if their mothers and fathers did not steadily enforce their performance.

Children this age will not voluntarily brush their teeth, keep their nails clean and trim. This is not because they are wilfully disobedient, resentful and rebellious. It is because mentally and physi-

Pilot Has License Taken 60 Days

Post-Crescent News Service

The pilot's license of Henry P. Liethen, 308 N. Mason street, has been suspended for 60 days for violation of civil air regulations.

The Federal Aviation Agency regional office in Kansas City, Mo., announced the suspension today following investigation of an incident near the Shawano airport.

W. Lloyd Lane, FAA regional attorney, said Liethen was charged with taxiing an airplane on a field adjacent to the airport and colliding with another aircraft parked on the ramp. Such action endangered the property of another person because of lack of vigilance and darkness, the FAA announcement said. Date of the violation was not announced.

Lawrence college added another "first" to its year of "firsts" at the Pi Kappa Lambda concert of romantic, impressionist and post-impressionist chamber music Sunday night in the Music-Drama center's Harper hall.

The premiere in question was the first public concert given by Lawrence's Alpha Theta chapter of the national honorary music society and probably the first time two husband and wife teams have performed on the same Lawrence program — at least the first time in Harper hall, being used for the first time this year.

If that were not enough, it also was the first time this year that Harper hall was less than overflowing for a Sunday program. Those who stayed away for fear of having to stand or listen via remote control elsewhere in the building missed one of the season's best and most varied chamber music programs.

Brahms' Sonata

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Rehl, he an assistant professor of piano and she a seasoned cellist, performed the gray-toned Brahms' Sonata in E minor, as melancholy a work as to have fallen from Brahms' pen. Mrs. Rehl amply produced the deep, sturdy tones demanded by the composer at every tempo from allegro to andante and in every mood from minuet to morbidity. Brahms almost totally neglects the upper registers of the cello in this sonata, but makes full use of the piano's continuum and force — fortunately for Mr. Rehl, who finds Brahms his literal forte.

Lawrence teaching fellow Mrs. Carole Wang Schroeder and her former professor, James Ming, teamed for a impressionist flute sonata by Philippe Gaubert and a post-impressionist sonatine by Darius Milhaud. As student and teacher often do, the pair works together beautifully, each anticipating the other's interpretive mood — a trait very necessary in performing 19th century contemporary French music. Mrs. Schroeder's rippling tone matched the sonatas, both of which bring to mind the appellation "characteristic," fought with brooks, limpid pools and rushing, though rivulet-like rapids. At times Milhaud composes beyond these cliches, particularly in the last movement which he calls "clair."

tor and violinist Kenneth Byler and his pianist spouse were joined by Mrs. Rehl for Beethoven's playfully somber Trio in C minor. Mrs. Byler's dexterity clearly fulfilled Beethoven's intent of delicacy and sentimentality, setting the tone for the other two members of the trio, who played with spurts of brilliance and comprehension.

The avowed purpose of Pi Kappa Lambda, according to Ming who made a few preparatory remarks, is "to recognize superior achievement in music." So it must, if it customarily turns out such fine performers. May its Lawrence members make a concert at least an annual and hopefully a twice-yearly event.

Again Harper hall lived up to its designers' claims of being a room for every purpose. Big enough to contain a baroque organ, small enough for a flute sonata. It is unfortunate for the concert-going public that every year cannot be a Lawrence Music-Drama festival year in acoustically superb halls.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Lovelier Hands

Constant exposure to water, harsh cleansing agents and dirt irritates the hand complex by draining off its oils. By causing a loss of moisture in the skin, cold wind brings about chap.

But you really can never blame rough, red hands on either dirty work or dirty weather. Your hands can and should be protected from both. Protection comes in the form of gloves and hand-care products.

In the prevention of dry conditions, hand lotions and creams have taken giant strides. Formulas now contain "barrier" agents, which repel water and irritants; healing ingredients, notably allantoin; a soothing property, like witch hazel; rich oils, such as lanolin; moisturizers, particularly glycerine. For the allergy-prone, there are even hypo-allergenic creams.

Since no preparation contains every ingredient mentioned, you must consult with the salesperson or read the labels to find a formula that best suits your individual needs. And since any preparation on the hands is worth two on the shelf, apply yours faithfully — always before grimy jobs and after washing the hands. Your hands will grow lovelier, instead of older or grubbier.

Much Film Magic Goes Into TV's Pictorial Advertising

See No Deceit; Claim Products Must be Shown in Actual Light

New York — How much film magic goes into pictorial advertising? Does that frothy stein of beer have real foam? Is the pretty girl actually taking a bubble bath? Are those lip-smacking cakes, juicy roasts and succulent turkeys the real thing? The answer, say professional photographers, can depend on a lot of things—and for a lot of reasons.

Widespread interest in the topic has been an off-shoot development from the recent probe of TV quiz show methods. There is, of course, nothing unique about commercial photo methods on the airwaves. Most of the techniques are as old as advertising in magazines, newspapers and catalogues, where they are standard practice.

Among the follow-up TV investigations is a check by New York Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan to determine if air ads are fraudulent. Congressional committee members have the subject on their agenda and the federal communications commission includes ad methods on its new study of TV programming.

Alluring Scenes

How do cameramen create their alluring scenes? How do they create the illusions of realism for pictorial displays in publications and television?

Lift the Curtain

A visit with Manhattan photographers, photo schools and studio technicians lifts the curtain on some of the wizardry.

That frothy foam on beer could be whipped egg whites. A shorter lasting head is created if warm beer is poured into a glass that has been lined with a thin coat of glycerine, melted butter or soap.

Milady in the bubble bath is wearing a bra and tights beneath the thick suds. Also unseen is the man who makes the bubbles with a hose connected to an air compressor.

Did you ever wonder why those cakes with the thick icing never seem to crumble when cut? The cake has been sliced beforehand, then re-coated with icing.

Those delicious roasts often have never been inside an oven. Only their ends have been seared over a studio hot-plate.

The ice cream in the pretty picture may be mashed potatoes. And that caramel candy may be a studio substitute colored with axle grease.

Are these tricks deceitful? Not Deceitful?

No, reply the photographers. Then why use them?

"It's simple," says one producer, of TV film commercials. "It is not deceit to use these gimmicks. We only wish to show the TV viewer the sponsor's product in the same light he would see it in his own home."

And this is not easy, the cream substitutes for whipped cream. Ice cubes are plastic. Tea substitutes for whiskey and other beverages.

Green peas look anemic when they come out of a can—at least for photographic purposes, and are retouched with glycerine.

Glycerine also is used for rain—and tears.

Morris Germain, who operates a photographic school here, explains:

"Did you ever see a vegetable soup ad with a tureen chockful of meat and vegetables—sort of floating on top? The photographer has cut a piece of glass to fit the bowl. He strains out the soup broth and dumps the meat and vegetables on top of the glass. They would sink otherwise."

"Steaming" coffee may get its smoke from a lighted cigarette hidden behind the cup.

How about those long, low automobiles? "An optical trick and low camera angle," explains one cameraman.

Fashion photography has its trade secrets, too. "If you could see the rear side of some of those girls in the photos," says a well-known lensman, "Clothespins are used to pull the gowns tight. The girls look like pincushions from behind."

Murder Still Commonplace In Philippines' Province

BY TONY ESCODA

Vigan, Philippines — Murder still comes easy in Ilocos Sur Province.

Over a hundred killings were chalked up here during the last year. Last July there were half a dozen within three weeks, including the shooting of a town mayor and his wife at their dinner table.

The national government then sent a thousand-man military task force to take over police duties. The task force is still here. So are the gunmen.

It will take more than a battalion—strength combat team to reverse the murderous trend that has become a part of life in Ilocos Sur.

Root of the trouble, authorities say, is an old feud between two political factions locked in a vicious struggle for control of the province. Each group has built up its own private army of goons, led by the fastest guns in the area. Their slogan "Icamun" means "let 'em have it."

In the courts, dockets are so clogged that some cases have been delayed for as long as five years. There are 293 cases of murder and homicide still pending.

Those that come to trial often end in acquittal because witnesses have been bought off, threatened into silence or have disappeared.

A typical example of what has been happening took place Oct. 28 on the courthouse steps in Vigan, the provincial capital.

The top gun of one of the two warring factions arrived for the continuation of his 2-year-old trial for murder. He was barely out of his car when he was shot in the back in plain sight of the small crowd of onlookers and a dozen troopers.

The killer, who calmly surrendered, turned out to be a relative of one of his victim's victims. He was also a member of the rival political group, whose leader had gotten him acquitted of an earlier murder rap.

Building Funds Established

Calumet Supervisors Earmark Money for Courthouse, Home

Chilton — Building funds of $25,000 each have been established for the county home for the aged and the courthouse by the board of supervisors. The money, along with the $50,000 applied to the tax levy, was taken from unencumbered surplus funds.

G. J. Hipke, chairman of the finance committee, introducing the measure, pointed out the need for eventual expansion of the buildings.

At the Homestead, a waiting list of 26 persons qualified for admission would warrant construction of an additional wing in the near future, thereby doubling the home's capacity. Original building plans made provisions for future expansion by setting up adequate service facilities for a doubled institution.

The courthouse, Hipke said, is already cramped for space and the situation is becoming increasingly critical as departments expand and filing space disappears.

A Span of Some 440 Years is represented in the early German-made wheellock blunderbuss and the model of an F-86-D held by Capt. Gerald E. Dickson, an AFROTC instructor at Lawrence college. The blunderbuss is a part of his antique gun collection. He flew the jet when on duty in Germany and England.

Jet-Flying AFROTC Instructor Finds Relaxation in Old Guns

BY JAY JOSLYN

Post-Crescent Staff Editor

There have been two things that have dominated Capt. Gerald E. Dickson's interest for the last 22 years — flying and antique fire arms.

As varied as these interests seem to be, the jet-flying AFROTC instructor at Lawrence college has kept them compatible.

He found his first old firearm when he was 12. It was no prize he dug out of a rubbish heap near his Hampshire, Ill., farm home, but it was a start. Other civil war pieces from neighbors joined the first find.

In high school a buddy joined him in constructing a glider. The plane was complete except for the fabric and the single fuselage when his buddy was drafted and the project stalled.

It was stored in a hayloft and when a load of hay crushed one of its wings, the project was dropped.

Appointed to Point But Capt. Dickson's interest in flying continued. He joined the air corps in January, 1944. In 1946 he was commissioned a navigator and won an appointment to West Point in 1947.

When he graduated from the academy in 1951 he entered pilot school and won his wings in August, 1952.

He was stationed in Duluth, Minn., where he met his wife and in May of 1955 he was assigned to England. After a year on German assignment, he came to Appleton last April.

England and Germany were the best hunting grounds for his gun collection, he said. However, there have been few places that have been fruitful.

Once his fellow officers got used to his unorthodox pastime, they proved eager helpers. One friend from West Point days stationed in the south ran across a "first edition" Colt "dragoon" cap and of the pieces will be sent to ball revolver. He wrote Dickson in Europe and the transaction was completed so the ancient pistol was waiting when the Dicksons when they arrived in Appleton.

Returning from three years in the collector's paradise of Europe presented some uninteresting in getting pieces that he packing and storage problems which have not been completely solved — and gave the Dicksons the joy of rediscovering their finds again.

The value and attraction of his collection has caused Capt. Dickson some thought about where to keep it. Sometimes the value of the pieces will be sent to ball revolver. He wrote Dick-

represent the evolution of fire arms. Some of the examples are surprisingly new. Guns, usually from the east where technological advances were slower despite the early use of gunpowder.

Fascinating History

Capt. Dickson can demonstrate a fascinating history telling of the growth of firepower and he urges potential collectors to ground themselves well in firearm history before acquiring pieces.

The original small arm was the "hand cannon," a primitive copy of larger field pieces with open powder pans. A pair of these were usually carried by horsemen in the early 15th century.

In the mid-15th century the matchlock was devised. It was an inexpensive gun and had a long history. The American colonists carried matchlock rifles in mid-17th century and 19th century matchlocks can be found in the Orient today.

By the end of the 15th century rifling was introduced. The firing mechanism became a work of intricate craftsmanship about 1520 when the wheellock was devised. Capt. Dickson has a fine example of this gun, a blunderbuss of early vintage made in Germany with a stock shaped like the stock of a crossbow.

Not Large Gun

Capt. Dickson pointed out a misconception cartoonists have given of the blunderbuss as being a huge contraption. Actually they were smaller than a usual rifle and used by horsemen and coach drivers. The muzzle was belled to facilitate loading while on the move and the size was cut down to ease handling in cramped quarters.

At the end of the 16th century, the Dutch and north Germans and the Spanish developed the next step in the evolution — the transition between matches and flints.

The Dutch called their gun the "snaap haan" or pecking hen, and the Spanish, the Miguelet. The device used to strike the flint resembled a pecking hen.

These guns were made up to the mid-18th century in the Near East, Dickson's examples are a Moorish chieftan's snaap haan and a Miguelet from North Africa, both of 19th century vintage.

Flint Lock

The flint lock was the last example of muzzle-loading firearms. It was devised in the 1670s and some of the troops in the Civil war were armed with flint locks.

Capt. Dickson has a famed "Kentucky" rifle made by a Silas Allen of Shrewsbury, Mass., between 1796 and 1843. He bought it in England and has always wondered whether it was purchased by an English collector in America or was part of the English booty in the War of 1812.

Europe started to lag as arms innovator, when Colt patented his cap and ball revolver in 1834, although the gunmaker Dreuse's needle-firing breech-loader that helped Bismark sweep Europe advanced the fixed ammunition idea.

Smith and Wesson

In 1852 Smith and Wesson obtained their American patent on their self-contained cartridge and the weapons of TV's bread and butter Westerns were well on their way.

The multiple-fire weapon had some strange beginnings. Dickson has a 1820-'36 "pepper box" multiple barrel pistol. Colt cut down the multiple barrels to cartridge cases firing into a single barrel.

Dickson has a flint lock pistol with four barrels. After firing two barrels, the marksman had to turn the other two up to firing position.

Before the multiple fire pieces, the traveler made up for his need for more protection than a single round by attaching a short bayonet at the end of his pistol.

Besides arms, Dickson has a collection of swords and fire arm accessories, such as ball molds and powder flasks. He also obtained a suit of armor, helmet, breast and back plates and gauntlets. The helmet was worn by the Spencer Standish, an ancestor of Sir Winston Churchill. Standish died in 1642 in Massachusetts colony.

Tells Neenah Legion

Veterans Have Responsibility To Maintain Peace, Draheim Says

Neenah — We as veterans have a great responsibility to hold and to maintain our present peace, State Sen. William A. Draheim, a veteran of both world wars, told the Hawley-Dieckhoff American Legion post and auxiliary at their Veterans day dinner Saturday night.

"We owe that to our comrades-in-arms, men who died for honor, men who died for freedom. I like to think that we as veterans have a special sort of responsibility. We have been to all parts of the world. We have come to know peoples of other lands. We are rich in experience due to our periods of service in the armed forces.

"I feel it is our duty to share as best we can those experiences and our knowledge with others in the hopes that we in our way can help to make this a better world to live in, to help others understand us and for us to better understand them," he pointed out.

Sen. Draheim said that the veterans in his opinion were a very special and important part of the chain of peoples and events which has preserved the United States for the great democracy that it is.

Cites Help From Others
He called attention to the help received by veterans from others who, because of many circumstances, were not veterans and who would be there to help in the future.

"I feel that we as veterans hold the trust of many and we must not by our actions or deeds or by any lust for power as a veterans group destroy that trust. We cannot be selfish and look upon matters solely for the benefit of the veteran but must look upon them for the common good of all mankind," he exhorted.

The speaker cited the record of the veterans as being good in response to the assistance given to many of them by the state. The housing loan program had made 21,280 loans totaling $57 million up to Oct. 1, of which only $64,419 has been written off as bad loans, or .11 of 1 per cent.

In the rehabilitation program 29,705 loans were made by the state. The Laemmrich Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Harvey Walbrun, Menasha; one son, Thomas, Menasha; five brothers, Ben, Dallas, Tex., and Edward, Ralph, Ervin and Carl, all of Milwaukee; two sisters, Mrs. Edith Schultz and Mrs. Edward Hardina, both of Milwaukee; and three grandchildren.

George J. Gutzke

Neenah — George J. Gutzke, 64, of 318 Church street, died at 1:30 p.m. Saturday after being in poor health for six years. He was taken to Theda Clark hospital in the Neenah ambulance and was pronounced dead on arrival.

He was born Dec. 19, 1894 in Menasha and was a life resident of the Twin Cities. A veteran of World War I, he was retired from the Strange Paper company and was a member of its 25-year club.

Funeral services are tentatively set for 9 a.m. Wednesday at St. Mary Catholic church with burial in the church cemetery. The Laemmrich Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Harvey Walbrun, Menasha; one son, Thomas, Menasha; five brothers, Ben, Dallas, Tex., and Edward, Ralph, Ervin and Carl, all of Milwaukee; two sisters, Mrs. Edith Schultz and Mrs. Edward Hardina, both of Milwaukee; and three grandchildren.

Mrs. Christofferson
Neenah — Mrs. Christine Christofferson, 73, of 123 E. North Water street, collapsed and died in front of Theda Clark hospital about 4:30 p.m. Sunday. She was born Nov. 27, 1885 in Neenah and was a life resident.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at St. Paul's English Lutheran church with the Rev. Arthur R. Tingley in charge. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

Friends may call at the Westgor Funeral home from 2 p.m. Tuesday until 11 a.m. Wednesday and then at the church after noon.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Julian Hester, Henderson, Nev.; one son, Howard, Neenah; one brother, John Christensen, Great Falls, Mont.; one sister, Mrs. Clement Kolb, Chestnut Hill, Pa.; two grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Theodore F. Klaus
Neenah — Theodore F. Klaus, 70, who resided with a niece, Mrs. Einer Klaus, 637 Paris street, died at 6:35 p.m. Saturday. He had been in poor health for six months.

Born July 4, 1889 in Menasha, he lived at Tacoma, Wash. for 15 years before returning here in 1954. He was a veteran of World War I and was retired from Menasha Wooden Ware corporation.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Tuesday at St. Mary Catholic church with burial in the parish cemetery.

Friends may call at the Laemmrich Funeral home after 3 p.m. today. The rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Military rites will be conducted at the grave.

Board Approves '60 School Budget

Refuse Release of Figures as 'Courtesy' to Council Members

Menasha — In closed, executive session Friday night, the board of education adopted its 1960 budget for presentation to the city council.

The closed meeting replaces what had been previously announced as a special meeting tonight for budget adoption. At the first of two board sessions Friday, the board decided to discuss the new budget as two committees, then adopt it tonight.

Board Pres. Ted R. Neely today refused to release details of the Friday night closed meeting, saying he wanted to give councilmen the "courtesy" of receiving the budget personally before it is published in newspapers.

Cut Ordered
Neely contended it would "give us the opportunity to do business in a businesslike basis" and "for the sake of amicable relations between the board and council."

He added, "I have requested the newspapers to withhold release of the letter of transmittal and the budget until Wednesday," indicated the budget will be available Wednesday.

Last week the council ordered a $40,000 cut in school costs next year. The budget had called for spending $912,965, with a tax levy of $690,609.

At 5 p.m. Friday, the board met as it had announced, in a session postponed from last Monday. At the afternoon meeting, the board decided to discuss the new budget at 7 p.m. Friday as the two committees.

Reconvened as Board
The board further announced it would meet at 7 p.m. tonight to adopt the budget.

However, during the 7 p.m. Friday meeting, the board committees reconvened as the board of education and formally adopted the budget without offering a report of the session either Saturday or today.

Board members attending the Friday night closed meeting were Neely, John Fitzpatrick, Robert Farrell, William Snyder and John Pawlowski. Mrs. Milton P. Gaertner, board secretary, today said she had not been informed of the special meeting after the budget was adopted. Since she is not a member of either committee, she would not have been required to attend the second session Friday, which had been termed a joint committee meeting.

Because of illness, Robert Cole attended neither session.

2 Workmen Hurt In Mill Mishaps
Menasha — Two workmen were hurt Saturday and today in accidents while at work.

Burned about the face in a mishap at Marathon's Washington street plant at 3:35 p.m. Saturday was Robert Cook, route 2, Menasha. A junior journeyman millwright in the central maintenance department, he was reported to have been working on a carton dipper when someone mistakenly opened a valve and a stream of hot wax struck him in the face.

His eyes were protected by safety glasses, it was reported. He was taken to Theda Clark hospital.

Bill Mayer, 217 Congress street, was taken to the hospital in the Neenah ambulance from John Strange Paper company at 9:39 this morning after he was hit on the head by a pipe.

Fined $5, Costs
Neenah — Herbert Heider, 49, 181 Gruenwald avenue, pleaded guilty of drunkenness and was fined $5 and costs by Police Justice E. P. Arpin this morning. He was arrested at 5:54 p.m. Sunday.

Mr. W. W. Belson will be the speaker at the Valley and Lake Shore traffic club dinner at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at Legion-on-the-Lake at Oshkosh. He is assistant to the president and director of public relations of the American Trucking associations, Inc.

250 Attend Reception for Librarian

Neenah — An estimated 250 persons attended the reception at the Neenah Public library Sunday afternoon for the new librarian and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Kunert.

The reception was given by the library board. Assisting with the program were the wives of board members and library staff members.

Instrumental music was furnished by a group of Lawrence college students for the guests who included residents of Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Kaukauna and Waukegan.

Pouring at the reception were Mrs. Chester S. Bell, wife of Neenah's mayor; Mrs. Edwin West, wife of a board member; and Miss Helen Jenkins and Mrs. Thelma DuChaine of the library staff.

Guests were received by William Hug, library board president; William Gresenz, past president, and Mrs. Henry Johnsen and Mrs. Clarence Bredendick of the library staff.

Other board members and wives of board members assisted with the reception preparations, headed by Mrs. Gillingham as chairman.

Driver Hurt When Car Runs Into Train
Neenah — Sadie C. Borst, 111 E. Columbia avenue, received a swollen leg and a chipped tooth when she apparently fell asleep at 12:51 a.m. Sunday and her car struck a Soo Line freight train which was standing at the Winneconne avenue crossing. She was advised to see a physician.

Burglars Break Into Merchandise Store

Menasha — Burglars escaped with about $650 in merchandise in a break-in sometime Sunday night or early this morning at the Valley

Merchandise Sales on Highway 47. A large cement block was used to break the plate glass window in the front door to gain entry. Windows in the back also were broken in attempts to gain entry but these windows were barred and could not give access to the building.

Taken were 7 wrist watches, five cameras including a 60-second type camera and 14 transistor radios. These were located near each other and this section was the only one from which anything was taken.

Winnebago county police are investigating the break-in. An inventory is being taken to determine the complete loss.

The store opened up recently in the former roller skating rink.

Two Motorists Pay Fines in Neenah Court
Neenah — Delbert A. Schultz, 21, 632 Tayco street, Menasha, was fined $10 and costs by Police Justice E. P. Arpin this morning after he pleaded guilty of speeding 40 miles an hour on S. Commercial street. He was arrested at 1:15 a.m. Thursday.

Thomas P. Dunn, 47, 514 Grand street, Oshkosh, was fined $15 and costs after he pleaded guilty of driving on the wrong side of the road. He was arrested after an accident at 2:52 p.m. Thursday on Green Bay road and Main street involving his car and one driven by Kenneth L. Stafford, route 1, Neenah.

No wholesale liquor license has been issued to the firm, nor has application been made, Mayor R. G. DuCharme and City Clerk Ira Clough confirmed today.

The Monarch firm moved its liquor stock and office furniture in Saturday. It will be managed by E. I. Rubin of Milwaukee.

City Atty. William R. Giese today said he would look into the liquor store operation since no license has been granted. He said no wholesale liquor licenses are presently outstanding, so nothing would prevent issuing one to the Monarch firm.

Neenah School Offers Class In Writing

Editor of Literary Magazine to Teach 8-Session Course

Neenah — Being offered this winter by the Neenah Vocational and Adult school is a "Creative Writers' Round-up" class which will meet at 7 p.m. on Tuesday nights for eight 2-hour sessions. Classes will begin Nov. 24.

Teaching the class will be Al P. Nelson of Delafield, a free lance writer for 25 years who has specialized in novels, short stories, articles and features, he has published in hundreds of magazines and has written several books. He also has been a successful lecturer and teacher of writing and has taught throughout the state under the sponsorship of the University of Wisconsin. He is one of the founders and the first editor of "Creative Wisconsin," a literary quarterly published by the Wisconsin Regional Writers association. Purpose of "Creative Writers' Roundup" is to provide a brief, comprehensive survey of the writing crafts and of the problems of writing for persons primarily interested in developing their literary creative abilities as an avocation.

The course is designed to cover the chief characteristics and techniques of various writing forms, such as narration, dramatic writing, poetry and non-fiction. The emphasis will be in the main on the practical aspects of writing, but the student will be encouraged to explore the aesthetic and philosophic backgrounds of his own particular field of interest.

Subject matter to be covered includes the art of the short story, the novel, dramatic writing, poetry writing, article writing, using materials on your doorstep and markets and market-creating creative writing, with each session devoted to one of those topics.

The series of eight meeting will be divided into two sections with some before the holidays and some after. Registration may be made at the Neenah Vocational and Adult school with the fee being $1.

Christmas Seals Sent To T-C Homes

Sales Help Pay For WATA Program To Fight Disease

Menasha — Twin Cities homes today received packets of Christmas seals from the Neenah Health Council and the Menasha Tuberculosis and Health association.

Seal sales help finance activities of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association. This year's local drive marks the 50th anniversary of seal sales in the Twin Cities. In 1909, $159.25 was raised. In 1910 Miss Letta J. French was seal sale manager, and Mrs.

Menasha Policemen Thursday honored Capt. Joseph Rippl, second from right, who recently retired from the department after 22 years, 4 months. As a remembrance, he was presented with a 21-jewel wristwatch. With the former captain, from left, are the Rev. John Mirek, assistant at St. John church; Police Chief Peter P. Clark; Capt. Roman Rappert, president of the Menasha Policemen's Protective association; and former Chief Alex Slomski.

John Strange took over in 1911, when a local anti-tuberculosis group was formed.

Last year, 141 persons died in Wisconsin of tuberculosis and 1,208 new cases were found. More than 3,000 persons received treatment in Wisconsin sanatoria. Wisconsin is one of the first states to institute free care of tubercular patients.

According to national estimates, about 1,000,000 Wisconsin residents have come in contact with TB germs. Of them, about 5 per cent, or about 50,000, eventually will contract tuberculosis at the present rate.

The seal sale campaign in Menasha will be headed by Mrs. Edward F. Arndt, Sr. sponsored by the Neenah Health council.

Banks to Hike Interest Rate

New Rates on All Savings to Become Effective Dec. 1

Neenah — Presidents of the four Neenah-Menasha banks today announced that beginning Dec. 1 all savings accounts will earn a full 3 per cent interest per year compounded semi-annually. These banks are First National bank of Neenah, the Bank of Menasha, the National Manufacturers bank and the First National bank of Menasha.

The 3 per cent rate is the highest interest rate an insured commercial bank can pay under present banking regulations. This new rate is a very definite part of the efforts of the Neenah and Menasha banks to give the Twin City area the very best banking service possible, the bank presidents stated.

YOUR HEALTH

By UPTON K. FURMAN Chiropractor, Neenah

The nervous system plays an important part in the process of digestion. There are two separate layers of nerves imbedded in the walls of both the stomach and the intestinal tract. These nerves control the movements, secretions, and all functions relating to digestion. It is when these nerves become irritated that digestive disturbances may occur.

Worry, excitement, fright, fatigue, or emotional disturbances tend to upset the delicate nervous mechanism and likewise disturb digestion. You no doubt have noticed that when you try to eat under these conditions the food seems to just "lay" in your stomach.

Mechanical irritation in the spine effects the nerves in a similar manner; however, if the irritation is of long standing the tissues become diseased. Chiropractic adjustments help to correct the cause of many types of digestive trouble.

Artist Series Will Present Handel Concert

Oshkosh — The bicentennial of Handel's death in 1759 will be commemorated by the Oshkosh State college choir and symphony orchestra when the two groups present a joint concert featuring Handel's work on Nov. 24.

The concert will be performed by the 80 voice choir, an accompanying 20 piece orchestra and four guest soloists under the direction of Dr. Stanley Linton, college choir master.

Guest soloists will include Lydia Lund, soprano, Wilmette, Ill.; Marjorie Moore Anania, contralto, Oshkosh; Ralph Nielsen, tenor, Chicago; and Bernard Izzo, baritone, Chicago.

To conclude the concert, each of the guest soloists will sing a Handel aria accompanied by the orchestra.

Because the concert will be presented as one of the 1959-1960 College Artist Series programs, only a limited number of tickets are available. Most of the seating space at the Grand theatre is reserved for season ticket holders.

Younger Brides, More Children Custom Today

New York — Larger families, younger brides and more working wives.

These are the big changes noted in a study of American womanhood by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. The study, covering the last 20 years, showed:

In 1940, one in five women at ages 18 and 19 was married; today the ratio is one in three. In the 20-24 age group more than two-thirds are married today, compared with only one-half in 1940.

The birth rate for third and fourth children in a family has more than doubled since 1940, and that for fifth children almost doubled, indicating larger families.

Nearly one-third of the wives — about 13 million — are in the labor force today. In the 45-54 age group, nearly two out of every five married women work outside the home.

TECHNOCRACY

The continual rise in surplus goods, of all kinds, is the most serious problem facing us today. Basically it is a simple engineering problem, but cannot be solved within the framework of the obsolete Price System. Technocracy can show the way out of our present dilemma onto a new course. Part Tedium, Part Excitement Describes Foreign Service Job

BY MARIAN DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Neenah — "A career in the foreign service is not all glamor. There is a great deal of tedium and inconvenience, but it has its moments of interest, beauty and excitement," said pretty, 29-year-old Thomasine Heiner, who is visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Palmquist, 701 Congress place.

She arrived in time to help celebrate the 80th birthday of her grandmother, Mrs. O. F. Heiner, who makes her home with the Palmquists.

Miss Heiner has just returned from a post at the consulate in Kuwait, an Arab Shaykhdom. Kuwait borders the northwest corner of Iraq and the northeast corner of Saudi Arabia. It is generally referred to as being part of Arabia, although it is actually an area of 100 square miles under British protection.

Although open oil fires have been burning in this arid, remote desert for centuries, oil was not discovered until 15 years ago. It is now considered the richest oil field in the world. There are three or four oil companies there, mostly owned by British and American operators.

Few Children
Our consulate employs seven Americans, and there are about 500 others who are employed by the oil companies. Very few children come with their families, as the schools are for the very young. For grammar, high school and college educations they are sent to Switzerland, England, or the American school in Turkey. Sometimes they do not see their parents for several years, as travel is extremely expensive and until recently, air travel was impossible.

Prior to the discovery of oil, pearl diving in the Persian gulf was the chief industry and the area had a population of about 60,000. In the last 10 years the oil interests have brought an increase in population to about 200,000.

Miss Heiner said there is no vegetation in Kuwait. All food, clothing, cosmetics and drugs are imported from Australia, Lebanon or Africa. The meat sold is chiefly beef and there is some chicken and lamb. No pork is allowed. There is no fresh milk, although the Arabs use goat milk or a form of cheese made from goat milk.

Moslem Country
Kuwait is a Moslem country and foreigners are expected to abide by the law of the Koran. There are no other laws to take care of traffic infractions and other modern misdemeanors. The Kuwaitians are extremely courteous and intelligent and they expect the same courtesy from foreigners living in their country.

Salaries for secretaries are about the same as they are in the United States, with housing furnished by the state department, and a cost-of-living adjustment, based on the current cost of living in Washington, D.C., foreign service employees pay income tax in this country, as the consulate or embassy is of course considered American soil.

Any single girl over 21, who is given clearance by the FBI may apply for foreign service. If accepted, she is assigned to a post for two years, given two months leave in the United States, with travel expenses paid; then re-assigned to another post. As Kuwait is considered a "hardship" post, Miss Heiner's new assignment is in Europe. She sails for Bonn, Germany, on Dec. 23, after a few weeks of training in communications in Washington.

Miss Heiner decided to go into foreign service five years ago after doing secretarial work at Dumbarton college in Washington. "Any girl who likes to travel would enjoy foreign service. She will learn that the world is not bounded by the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The United States has many virtues and many faults abroad, and it does not make one love one's country less to be aware of this, but rather helps one to a greater understanding of people all over the world."

For instance, "Miss Heiner remarked, "they have a period corresponding to our lent, about 30 or 40 days, during which they cannot eat, smoke or drink even water from sunrise to sunset. The Moslems, of course, never touch alcohol. They may eat after sunset and often are up half the night during this period, and sleep during the day. The oil companies, make allowance for this time of fasting.

"If a Moslem is seen eating or smoking in the daytime, he is flogged, often so severely that he may die. An American or Englishman seen eating or smoking publicly may be expelled from the country. Naturally we may do as we like in our own homes."

The Moslems have a saying today, "Allah is good. He always provides something, and here he provides oil." Oil has revolutionized the standard of living in Kuwait, and houses with air conditioning and plumbing are being built rapidly to replace the tents and mud huts of a few years ago. The working week is 40 hours with Friday, the Mos-court, will entertain at a 4 p.m. Tuesday tea for new members of Frances Gilbert circle of the King's Daughters.

Work Sunday
The Americans work the full day on Sunday but most of them go to their churches in the evening. There is a Catholic church, an Episcopal church and a Dutch Reformed church.

There is no television; the newspaper generally read is the European edition of the New York Times, which arrives three days late. Radio Moscow and Radio Bagdad are received clearly and sometimes broadcasts from BBC can be heard.

Zephyrs Rout Dons In 1959-60 Opener

Cop 84-41 Highlighted by 32 Points in Third Period; Schreiner Gets 25 Markers

Menasha — Exploding for 32 points in the third period (19 by Dean Schreiner), St. Mary rolled to an 84-41 triumph over Milwaukee Don Bosco in its 1959-60 inaugural Sunday afternoon. The game was played at the Appleton St. Joseph gym.

The Zephyrs were held scoreless for 49 seconds and were only behind twice, at 1-0 and 3-2. Once they began rolling there was no stopping them. They found the range for 10 straight points during the latter stages of the initial period on their way to a 22-7 Vander Hyden lead at the quarter mark. Bosco didn't get any closer than 11 points in the second quarter and the margin was just that (33-22) at halftime. The visitors made the first two points of the third segment but St. Mary then made five straight points. After the Milwaukeeans tallied again, Schreiner went on his scoring rampage with eight straight points, boosting the score to 47-26. During the last half of the period, St. Mary made 15 points while Bosco had to be content with a basket and two free throws. The score at the close of three sessions was 62-30.

9 of 10 Free Throws

During the hot 32-point period, Schreiner picked up five baskets in seven attempts and connected on all of his nine free throws in 10 tries for the game. Pete Vander Hyden added three baskets and a charity point to the total.

Early in the last quarter, St. Mary had the score doubled at 70-35 and it closed as impressively as it had started by hooping the last seven points of the contest.

Coach Ralph McClone used reserves in the final period and they came up with 20 points. Of the 13 players employed, 11 broke into the point column.

Use Pressing Defense

The Zephyrs used their press from the start and it helped bring about several convenient baskets after thefts. The boys, because it was the first game of the season, didn't have their timing down and fouled 26 times. Bosco committed 21 violations.

The bewildered Dons didn't get a field goal in the first quarter, making seven free throws in eight tries. Their first 2-pointer didn't fall through the hoop until 3:20 had been played in the second period. They wound up with 10 field goals, 22 less than the winners.

Rebound Well

The Zephyrs, with more height than last year, rebounded well, particularly Jerry Laemmrich, Jim Koerner and Vanderhyden. Schreiner's 25 points gave him scoring honors. Laemmrich and Vanderhyden each had 12 and Koerner and Jim Rueckl netted 10 apiece.

From the free throw line, St. Mary made 20 of 33 and Don Bosco, 21 of 37.

Unofficial statistics showed the Zephyrs hitting at a terrific 48 per cent clip on 32 for 66. The losers made 10 of 34. St. Mary had 10 of 16 in the third quarter.

Tom Sager and Bob Myszewski, who didn't start, each had nine points for the Dons.

Post, Robinson Split Honors in 'Goof-Off' Circuit

Menasha — Harold Becker banged a 229 game and 606 series to highlight firing in the Mid-Town Mixed Couples Bowling league Sunday night. Clancy Braun posted 569 and Dick Walbrun had 568 for the night's other honor score.

The standings show Morton Drugs in first place by one game with a 12-3 record.

Frank Post rolled a 227 game and Marvin Robinson had a 534 series to split honors in the Goof-Off Couples circuit Sunday night at Mid-Town. Post finished with a 553 trio.

The Sleepy team (16-2) has command of first place by three games.

Trotters Turn Back Kenosha Squad 78-70

Square Record at 1-1; Bob Mortell Scores 26 Points

Kenosha — Menasha Extension got an even break in its 2-day trip here by defeating Kenosha 78-70 here Saturday afternoon. The Trotters were beaten by Racine Friday night.

Green Bay, which made the downstate trip with the Trotters, fell to Racine 84-60 in the other Saturday game. Racine now tops the league with three straight victories. The Trotters held a 42-39 advantage at halftime and then, with Hal Jorgensen and Bob Mortell getting timely baskets, gradually began to pull away in the final 20-minute segment.

Mortell, who last year played CYO ball, garnered Menasha scoring honor with 26 points on 12 baskets and two free throws.

Zuffa captured Kenosha and game point honors with 30 markers on 12 baskets and six free throws. Ruelle tallied 14.

Free Throw Edge

The Menashans only had a 29 to 28 advantage from the floor but outgunned the hosts 20 to 14 from the charity stripe.

This Year's Christmas Seals went into the mail Saturday for all homes in Neenah and Menasha. Seal sales are used to finance activities of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association. The first seals were sold here in 1909, and the local association was formed two years later. Mailing the boxes of envelopes were Mrs. Bernard Pawlowski, foreground, president of the Menasha Tuberculosis and Health association; and Mrs. Edward F. Arndt, Sr., Menasha seal sale chairman.

Big Opening Week Scheduled For Local High School Clubs

Menasha — The local football season having breathed its last breath, the patter of running feet will become prevalent in the local gymnasiums with a big opening week schedule of prep games.

St. Mary kicked off its slate against Milwaukee Don Bosco yesterday and will play its second game Friday night, testing Wisconsin Rapids As- sumption in a non-conference clash at the Menasha High school gym.

Menasha plays at West De Pere Tuesday night and goes to Manitowoc Friday evening.

Neenah doesn't open until Friday when Fond du Lac is here for the perennial opener. The Rockets play Wisconsin Rapids Saturday night in their second straight home game.

The Jayvee squads, with the exception of St. Mary, will play the same schools as their varsity big brothers. Frosh league play doesn't begin until the week of Dec. 10.

Sellnow's 607 Tops in Mixed Loop

Neenah — Wally Sellnow of the Waupun team cracked a 607 series in the Ball and Chain Mixed Couples wheel Sunday night at Lakeroad Lanes.

Sellnow felled a 228 loner but yielded singleton honors to Carl Hebbe, who clubbed a 233 and finished with 582 for three.

Bob Tuttrup's 573 set led the way in the Baseball Mixed Doubles circuit Sunday night at Lakeroad.

Leading the women were "Dot" Suggen 199, Pat Moder 194 and Helen Koerwitz with a 190. The standings are incomplete because the first place team didn't bowl.

Evan Jones' 571 triple took honors in the Trinity Lutheran Men's club wheel Saturday night at Lakeroad.

Alumni Turn in 49-32 Decision Over Shamrocks

Menasha — St. Patrick Grade school bowed 4932 to an Alumni squad Sunday afternoon at the Shamrock gym.

The Alumni had leads of 15-6, 23-12 and 39-21 at the close of each of the first three periods.

Bill Starr scored 18 points, on eight baskets and two free throws to pace the Alumni scorers. Tom Schueppert made seven and Jim Flynn and John Rather each had six. Jim Rather tallied 14 on seven baskets and Barry Conway had eight points for the graders.

St. Patrick opens league play at home next Sunday afternoon with Holy Cross of Kaukauna furnishing the opposition.

Winneconne CC Hosts of Firemen At Dec. 12 Party

Winneconne — Members of the Winneconne fire department will be honored at a dinner the night of Dec. 12 in the Hiawatha room of the Arrow-head club.

The local Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring the dinner, will distribute gifts to the firemen.

Winneconne members of the Winnebago County Federation of Republican Women will attend a tea from 2 to 4 p.m. Tuesday in honor of Sixth District Congressman William K. Van Pelt of Fond du Lac. The tea will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Steiger, Oshkosh.

Winneconne, Omro Play First Foes

Wolves Take on Wautoma; Foxes Test Weyauwega

Oshkosh — Omro and Winneconne, Winnebago's representatives in the Little Nine conference, begin their basketball schedules with Tuesday night non-league encounters.

Coach Tom O'Brien, beginning his second season as Winneconne coach, has six lettermen — Ron Mueller, Dale Johnson, Jim Kiesow, Bill Freund, Ron Heath and Doug Korn.

The Wolves had an 8-14 record last year, posting 2-11 in the conference but they coped four of five tournament tests.

Omro, which had 9-4 in the conference and 12-8 overall last year, has two lettermen, Bob Beck and Ed Pollex.

Gone are Doug Emerson, who scored 432 points, and Glen Frank, who tallied 268. Leading prospects include Bill Stillier, Dave Kumbier, Dar-ryl Enli, Tom Kuehn, Tom Basel, Don Kallas, Doug Lindemer and Doug Kintopf.

Chaplain at State School To Give Talk

Catholic Priest To Speak on Work to Community Council

Menasha — Speaking at the Community council dinner meeting Tuesday noon at the Hotel Menasha will be the Rev. John D. Allemang, Catholic chaplain at the state school for boys at Waukesha and Wales.

A native of Fr. Allemang Westboro, he attended St. Francis seminary at Milwaukee and was ordained in 1942. He has been chaplain at the boys schools since 1957.

Prior to that post he was an assistant at St. John's Cathedral parish in Milwaukee and was ordained in 1942. He has been chaplain at the boys schools since 1957.

During this time he worked with the emotionally disturbed, the mentally retarded and the blind and did extensive counseling with youngsters, adults, couples about to be married and those with marital problems. He spent much time in jails, courts, mental hospitals and the detention home to work with people in trouble.

He was a guest speaker at Marquette university on the needs of the delinquent child in the metropolitan area and has lectured in Chicago and Pittsburgh as well as throughout Wisconsin.

Hewitt Game

Neenah — Hewitt's Machines will meet an Oshkosh team in a non-league basketball game at 8:15 p.m. tonight at the Roosevelt gym.

Champions Down Bradley of Peoria In Final Round

Oshkosh — In the championship round between the debating teams of Bradley university, Peoria, Ill., and the University of Minnesota, at Oshkosh State college Saturday, the University of Minnesota affirmative team was the winner.

The subject was "Resolved: That Congress be Given Power to Reverse the Decisions of the Supreme Court."

In the preliminary rounds, there were 149 debates, with 22 teams from 18 colleges participating. Bradley University and the University of Minnesota went into the final round undefeated.

Schools taking part in the tournament were Wheaton, Stevens Point State, Marquette, Northern Michigan, Illinois State Normal, Hamline; Northern Illinois university, College of St. Thomas, White-water State, River Falls State, Ripon, Luther, Carroll, Eau Claire State, St. Olaf, Bradley, University of Minnesota and Oshkosh State college.

Two teams from Oshkosh State college participated. Among the local members were Mary Jo Krueger, Kaukauna; Beverly Broehm, Winneconne; Robert McCoy, Appleton; Joseph Hemmer, Oshkosh; William O'Brien, Neenah, Donald Rex, New London; James Polsin, Oshkosh; Carston Koeller, Clintonville; John Guyette, Fond du Lac, and Barbara Kubale, Reeds-ville.

Among the top ten debaters were Mary Jo Krueger, Kaukauna; Robert Holly, North Fond du Lac; and Barbara Kubale, Reedsville.

Couple Hurt When Car Goes Off Road

Oshkosh — Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Kohls, 89 Bellaire lane, Oshkosh, were taken to Mercy hospital after their car went off Highway 110 in the town of Oshkosh Saturday night.

The couple received abrasions, and lacerations and suffered from shock. Their car went off a curve near the Lakeview Memorial cemetery striking a tree and rolling over several times. It was a total wreck. Shrubbery and a railroad sign also were damaged. The vehicle traveled 198 feet from the time it left the road until it came to rest on its side.

Kohls is being charged by sheriff's deputies, with operating on the wrong side of the road.

Rubbish Collection

Neenah — Non-burnable rubbish will be collected Wednesday in the Third, Fifth, Eighth and Tenth wards. Rubbish should be on the curb by 7 a.m.

Mitchell Counts 3 TDs as Browns Dump Washington

Bears Shave 49ers' Lead to One Game by Winning, 14 to 3

BY MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Fleet Bobby Mitchell, an undersized Jimmy Brown, has emerged from the shadow of his more illustrious Cleveland teammate while pulling the Browns into a tie for first place in the Eastern conference of the National Football league.

With the 225-pound Brown stymied, the 180-pound Mitchell took over Sunday and scored three touchdowns as Cleveland defeated the Washington Redskins, 31-17, for a 6-2 record.

Scampers 90 Yards

Mitchell, 23, who is in his second year as a pro, scored Cleveland's first TD by scampering 90 yards to paydirt, then tackled on runs or five and 24 yards for additional tallies as he amassed 232 on the ground.

Mitchell, using rapier-like thrusts to open the defenses where Brown's bulling rushes failed, averaged 16.6 yards a try to come within five yards of Brown's single-game NFL record for total yardage rushing.

Cleveland next meets the Pittsburgh Steelers who dumped New York into a tie for the top spot by beating the Giants, 14-9, on Bobby Layne's touchdown pass with 1:29 left to play.

In the Western division, the San Francisco 49ers had their lead cut to one game when the Chicago Bears threw up a brilliant defense for a 14-3 victory. The second-place Baltimore Colts edged Green Bay 28-24.

The 49ers (6-2) and Colts (5-3), defending NFL champions, clash at Baltimore next Sunday in a showdown contest.

Other Games Philadelphia knocked off the Chicago Cardinals, 27-17, and Detroit upended Los Angeles, 23-17.

Despite Mitchell's fancy footwork, it took a 35-yard field goal by Lou Groza at the start of the second half to put the Browns in front to stay. Dick James and Johnny Olszewski, who set a club record with 190 yards gained rushing, game Washington (3-5) a

Southern California, Syracuse are Only Major Unbeaten '11s'

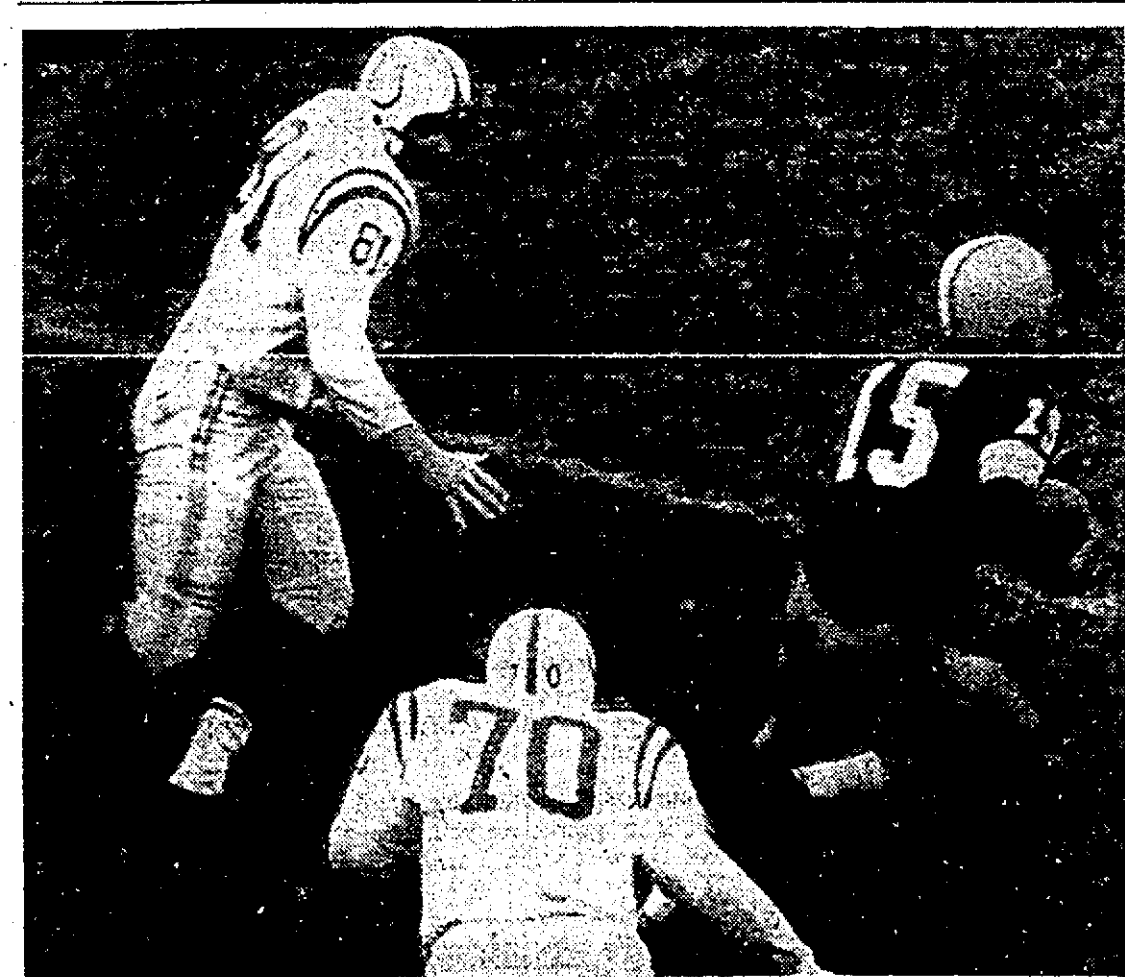

By The Associated Press Bowl-bound Syracuse and Southern California stood out as the only major college football teams with perfect records after Texas and North Texas State suffered their first defeats last Saturday.

The spoilers were Texas Christian, 14-9 winner over the Texas Longhorns, and Tulsa, which beat North Texas, 14-6. Syracuse made it eight straight victories with a 71-0 romp against Colgate, and USC trimmed Baylor, 17-8, for its eighth win.

Champion Colts in County stadium Sunday afternoon.

This could have been Green Bay's worst defeat or greatest victory of the season.

Johnny Unitas' point manufacturers were ahead, 21 to 3, at the half and appeared headed for a landslide, but the Packers came out of the intermission breathing fire and came within a "few little things" of dumping the illustrious visitors.

The final score was a thrilling 28 to 24 but it could easily have been 31-23, Green Bay.

The two clubs rolled up close to 1,000 yards — 976 to be exact — and left the partisan gathering of 25,521 gasping for more cold air. This one had everything — except more points for the Packers.

The 52-pointer was Green Bay's fifth straight loss, and ended a 2-game losing streak for the champs.

Play Redskins The Packers, with 3-5, will go out to end the losing streak at the expense of the Redskins in Green Bay next Sunday.

This was a tribute to Bart Starr, the quarterback who seems to have so much trouble scoring. He started in place of the injured Lamar McHan and brought the Packers in for three touchdowns and a field goal, and a wonderful 460 yards, including 242 by passing and 218 rushing.

It was Starr's highest scoring performance since he joined as a rookie in 1956.

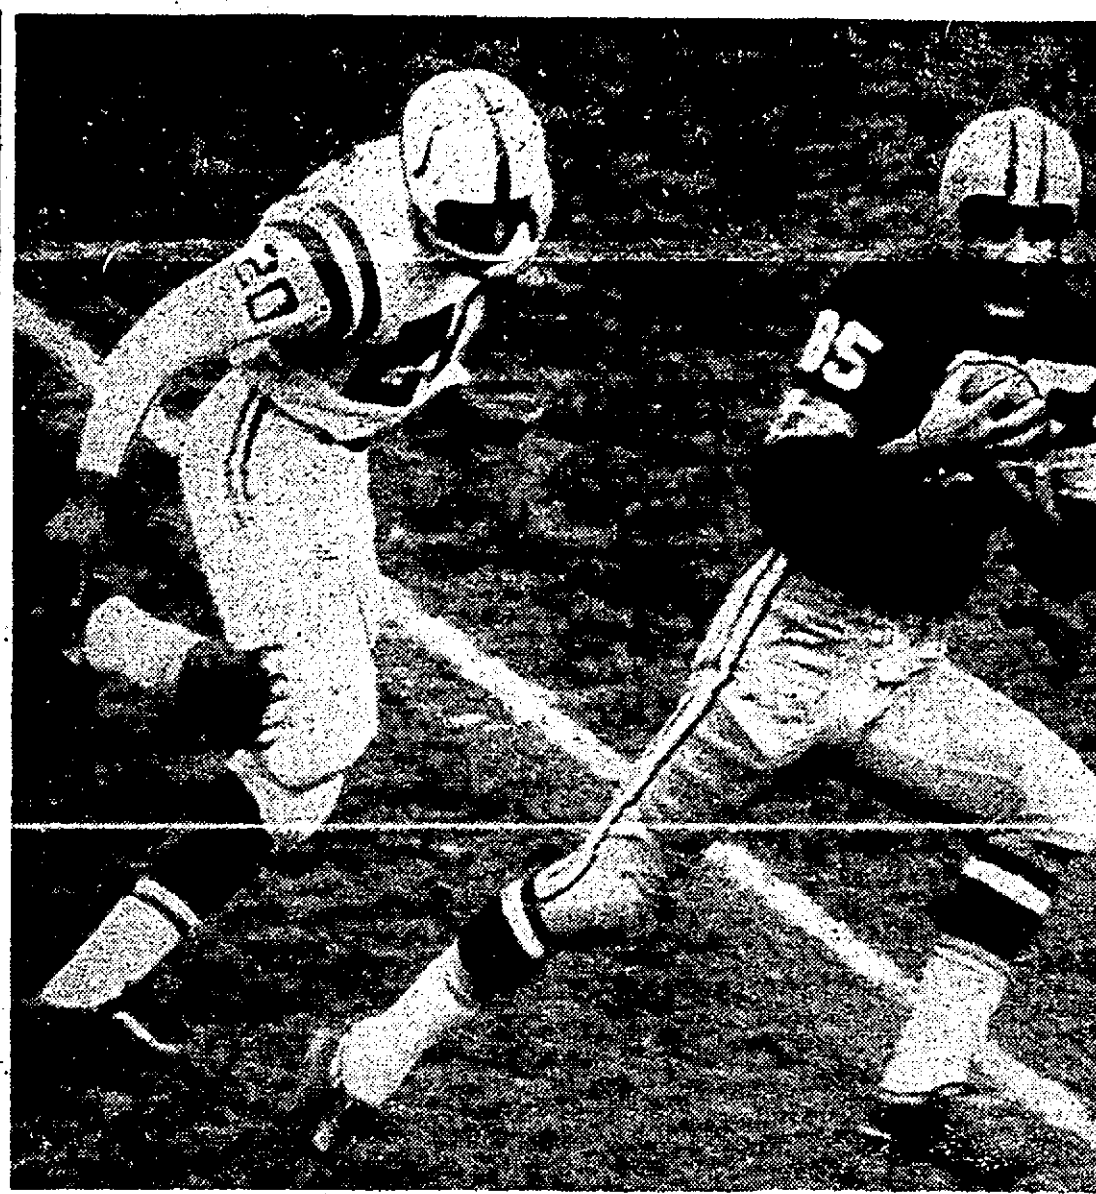

He completed 14 out of 40 passes and had at least five of his throws dropped, two of which would have produced TDs. Bart overthrew another TD pass, himself, and had three pitches intercepted.

Score Three TDs

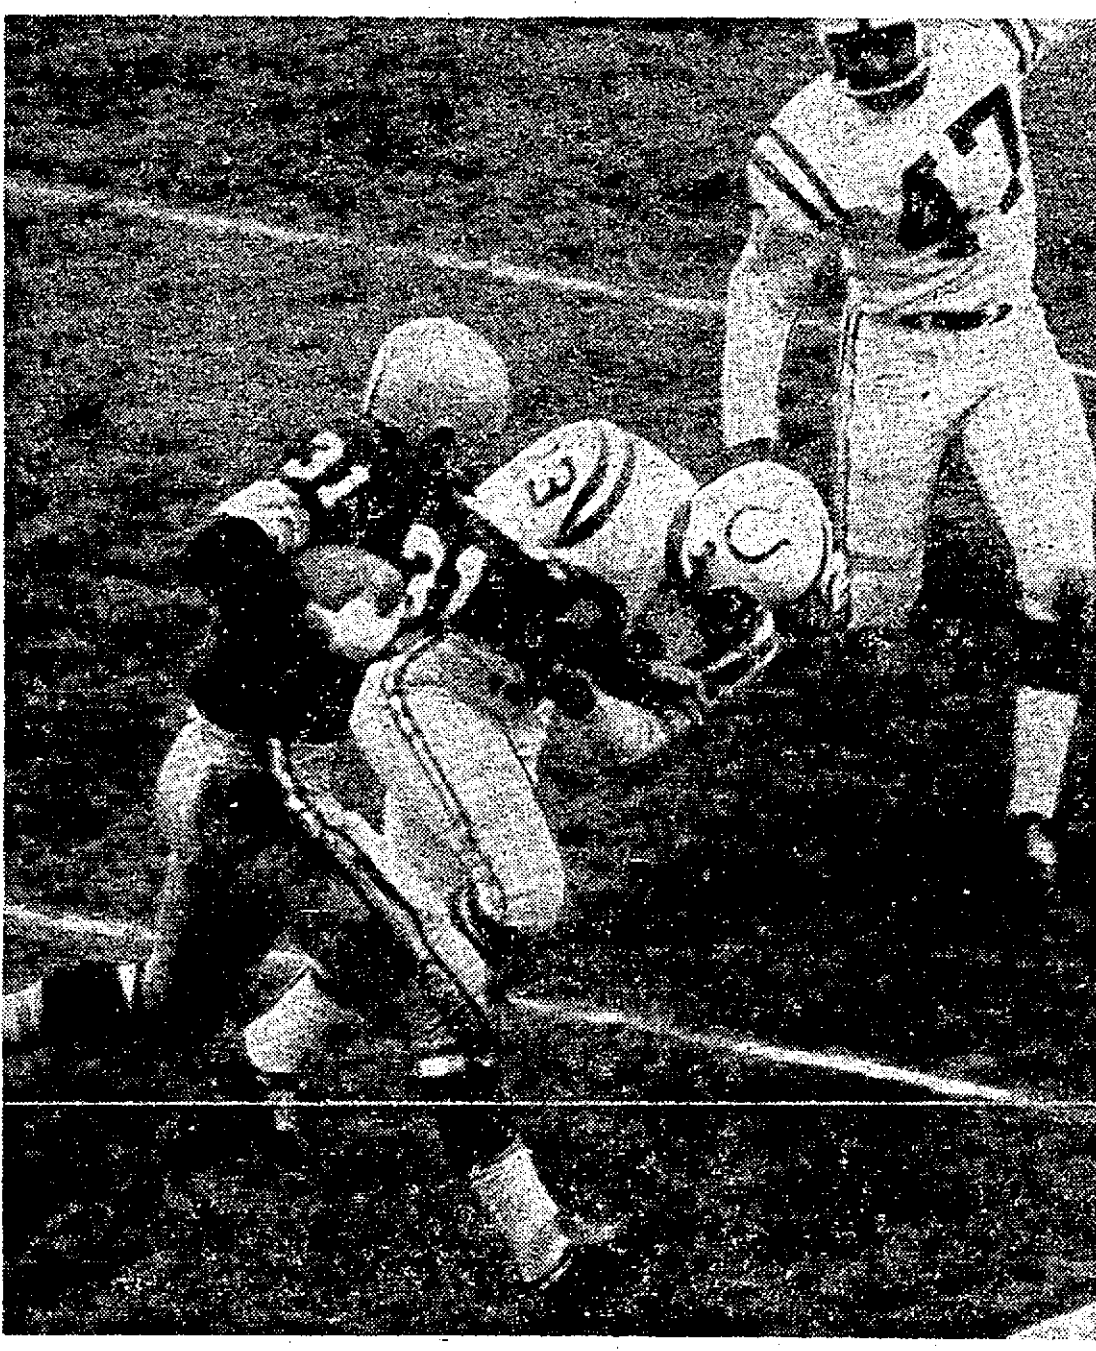

Ironically, Starr brought the Bays along for two other field goal tries but both were missed by Paul Hornung — from the 40-yard line in the first quarter and the 22 in the third. Those six points would have done it.

Hard-riding Jim Taylor scored all three "home" touchdowns on cracks of two

Weary Wildcats, Badgers to Play Tough Traditional Foes Saturday

MSU Can Sneak Off With Title If Both Lose

BY JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

Northwestern and Wisconsin, a pair of weary football giants seeking at least a share of the Big Ten title, run into tradition-toughened rivals Saturday.

And if both happen to lose, Michigan State will sneak off with not only the championship but also the Rose bowl bid.

Illinois' last-play triumph over Wisconsin and Michigan State's victory over Northwestern Saturday left the three contenders tied for first place with 4-2 records.

Finish at Miami Michigan State, however, has nothing more to say about the race following its 15-10 decision over Northwestern. The Spartans have concluded league play and finish the season at Miami of Florida Friday night.

Wisconsin, knowing at half-time that Northwestern had lost and holding a 6-2 lead over Illinois, saw its chances diminish when Bill Brown tumbled into the end zone as the final gun sounded. What minutes earlier appeared to be success suddenly turned into a 9-6 defeat.

Although both Northwestern and Wisconsin are on the road Saturday, the Badgers seem to have a better chance than the Wildcats.

Wisconsin goes against Minnesota which is in the Big Ten cellar, having beaten only Indiana early in the season. Since that triumph, the

CD Estimates 8,220 Deer Were Killed

Spooner — Conservation officials today estimated about 8,220 deer were bagged during the opening weekend of Wisconsin's 16-day gun season.

Game Manager John Davis said the number of hunters in the northern zone was up about 80 per cent compared with last year's opening weekend. The season opened Saturday morning in all or part of 14 northern counties.

Davis said the estimated kill of 8,221 compares with 3,605 bagged in the area during the 1958 opening weekend.

Los Angeles — Ray Greco, 152, Los Angeles outpointed Karl Heinz Guder, 1561, Essen, Germany, 10.

Gophers have dropped five straight conference games.

Even though Minnesota saves some of its best football for Wisconsin, the Badgers should not have too much trouble considering the title is at stake.

Northwestern is beset with a tremendous problem against Illinois. Not only are the Illini tough enough to hold their own against anyone, as Wisconsin can verify, but this is the last game under Coach Ray Eliot.

Eliot is stepping out as coach to become assistant athletic director and Illinois' psychologically will be as high as possible.

Except for the reversals of Northwestern and Wisconsin Saturday, there were no surprises in other conference games. Iowa whipped Ohio State, 16-7; Indiana downed Michigan, 26-7; and Purdue defeated Minnesota, 29-23.

Outside the conference, Notre Dame suffered its fifth loss in eight games by losing to Pitt, 28-13, and Marquette made it two straight with a 35-34 triumph over favored Cincinnati.

The rest of this week's schedule finds Ohio State at Michigan, Purdue to Indiana, Notre Dame at Iowa and Holy Cross at Marquette.

3-1 Lineup To be Same Next Season

League Votes Against All-Star Game and Split Season

The same eight teams that made up the Three-I Baseball league in 1959 will operate again in 1960.

All clubs, including the Fox Cities Foxes, indicated their readiness to go in '60 during the league's annual meeting in Chicago Saturday and Sunday.

Expect No Difficulty

The only pre-meeting question mark was Green Bay, which switched its controlling interests several days ago. But, Business Manager Al Maes, who represented the Bluejays, gave no indications that the club would have any difficulty putting its financial house in order by Dec. 1, the arbitrary deadline established by the old controlling group, the Green Bay Community Baseball association.

The non-Wisconsin teams in the league are Des Moines, Cedar Rapids, Sioux City, Burlington, Lincoln and Topeka.

The Foxes and Burlington are the only two who have changed affiliations—the former switching to Baltimore and the latter to Pittsburgh.

The league will again play a 126-game schedule in 1960. (Fox Cities and Des Moines favored a 140-game slate).

At Sioux City Though the schedule isn't definitely set, it is believed the Foxes will open at Sioux City April 24 and play their first home game against Burlington April 30.

By a 5-3 vote the league decided not to split the season in 1960. The Foxes' delegates —President Ray McCrone and Business Manager Bob Willis —cast one of three votes in favor of a split.

The league also voted to discontinue the mid-season all-star game. The reason given was the excessive costs (each club had to pay three days' salary without additional income and had to defray the cost of their all-star players' trip to the game site).

The league netted $1,200 from the '59 all-star game in Green Bay. Compensation for this lost amount will come in the form of an extra "gate cut" from each club on some designated date.

The financial status of the league is "good," reported President Hal Totten, who was re-elected to a 2-year term (Frank Pfaff, of Cedar Rapids, was re-elected to a 1-year term as vice president).

Four of the clubs—Fox Cities, Cedar Rapids, Des Moines and Burlington—finished "in the black" financially for '59 operations. The other four were reported "slightly in the red."

Three officials were appointed to a financial committee to work with Totten on league expenses and other problems. They are Adam Pratt, Sioux City; Sherman Huff, Topeka; and Ralph Vogelsange, Burlington.

Xavier Opens 1st Basketball Season Tuesday

Four Sophomores Start Against Random Lake

With the exception of one guard, Xavier High School Coach Gene Clark has settled on his starting lineup for Tuesday night's basketball opener against invading Random Lake.

The other Hawk guard will be one of three freshmen: Jim Brown, Dick Wiesner or Pete Zanzig. (Each of the other four starters is a sophomore.)

Madison — Don't count the Wisconsin Badgers out of the Rose bowl on the basis of last Saturday's 9-6 upset by Illinois.

A victory in its Big Ten finale at Minnesota Saturday will give Wisconsin at least a tie for the conference football title or, with some luck, even the undisputed championship.

Bruhn

The loss to the Illini, and it was a bitter one, put Wisconsin in a 3-way tie for the leadership with Northwestern and Michigan State with 4-2 records.

Takes on Illinois
Michigan State has completed conference play and Northwestern takes on the same Illinois club that won from Wisconsin in the final second.

The mathematical possibilities riding on the outcome of both leaders' games range all the way from a clear title to a tie for fourth spot in the final standings.

Playing on its home field in generally cold weather, Minnesota is capable of dumping a spirited opponent.

"I've got a job on my hands," Coach Milt Bruhn said. "The kids were really low after that loss to Illinois. The Badgers owned a 6-2 lead at the half but were outplayed from there on. The Illini, frustrated by bad breaks, threatened continually with hard, slashing play and climaxed a fullback game by sending hardback Bill Brown over from the 1-foot line as the final gun sounded. Gerry Wood kicked an unneeded extra point after the game was over."

"Maybe the boys got a little tired," Bruhn said in a dejected dressing room. "This has been a long haul."

He said his team got word of Northwestern's loss to Michigan State before taking the field for the second half.

"We knew we could have clinched the title but Illinois controlled the ball in the second half. That's what we want to do and couldn't," he said.

Flat Pass
Of Brown, who did most to wreck the Badger homecoming, Bruhn commented, "We knew about him and we tried to plug up the middle on him but then they'd throw a flat pass and that was it."

In the first period Wisconsin held on the 1-foot line and took over the ball but fumbled. Wisconsin's Ed Hart fell on the ball in the end zone for an Illinois safety.

The Badgers then began a parade of its own to the Illini 14. On fourth down, Dale Hachek faked a position for a field goal attempt and ran to the 8-yard line where the ball popped out of his hands into the end zone. Hank Derleth fell on the ball for a touchdown.

Illinois began the victory parade in the final five minutes from its own 19. With Brown leading the way, the Illini got to the Badger 12 with one minute 18 seconds remaining. Gary Kolb caught a pass on the one yard line and was run out of bounds, stopping the clock with 28 seconds left.

Brown and Mel Myers gained nothing on two tries. With five seconds left Illinois lined up without a huddle and Brown took a handoff into the end zone.

During the latter part of the drive the officials twice took time out because the quarterback couldn't be heard above the screams of 56,028 fans at the homecoming game. This saved precious seconds for Illinois, which was fighting the clock as well as the Badgers.

Celtics Trim Royals for 11th Straight Time

Lakers Deal Warriors 2nd Defeat, 'Wilt' Hits 26 Points

By The Associated Press
The Boston Celtics have no worries of going victory-poor so long as the Cincinnati Royals are in the National Basketball association.

The Celtics have beaten the Royals 11 straight times, including a 134-128 triumph Sunday night in Cincinnati.

The big difference was Boston's work on Jack Twyman, who had been averaging nearly 40 points a game. Twyman finished with only 10 points, two in the second half.

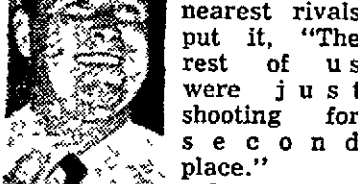

In other games, the Minneapolis Lakers defeated the Philadelphia Warriors, 106-100, and the Detroit Pistons whipped the New York Knickerbockers, 103-94.

Minneapolis' victory over the Warriors enabled the Lakers to climb out of the western division cellar. It was only the second defeat in 10 starts for Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain and his Warriors.

Chamberlain hit for 26 points, two below his season average. Paul Arizin also had 26, but the balanced scoring performance of the Lakers—six of them in double figures—clinched it. The Pistons handed the Knicks their fifth straight defeat.

Billy Casper Triumphs by Four Strokes

Lafayette, La. — Billy Casper made a show of his field in the $15,000 Lafayette Golf tournament. And as one of his nearest rivals put it, "The rest of us were just shooting for second place."

Casper, a 28-year-old stylist who takes a good deal of ribbing about his waistline, blasted par again with a 69 Sunday to take the $2,000 first-place check. His 4-round total of 273 was four strokes better than that of runnerup George Bayer, the distance hitter from Glenageles, Ill.

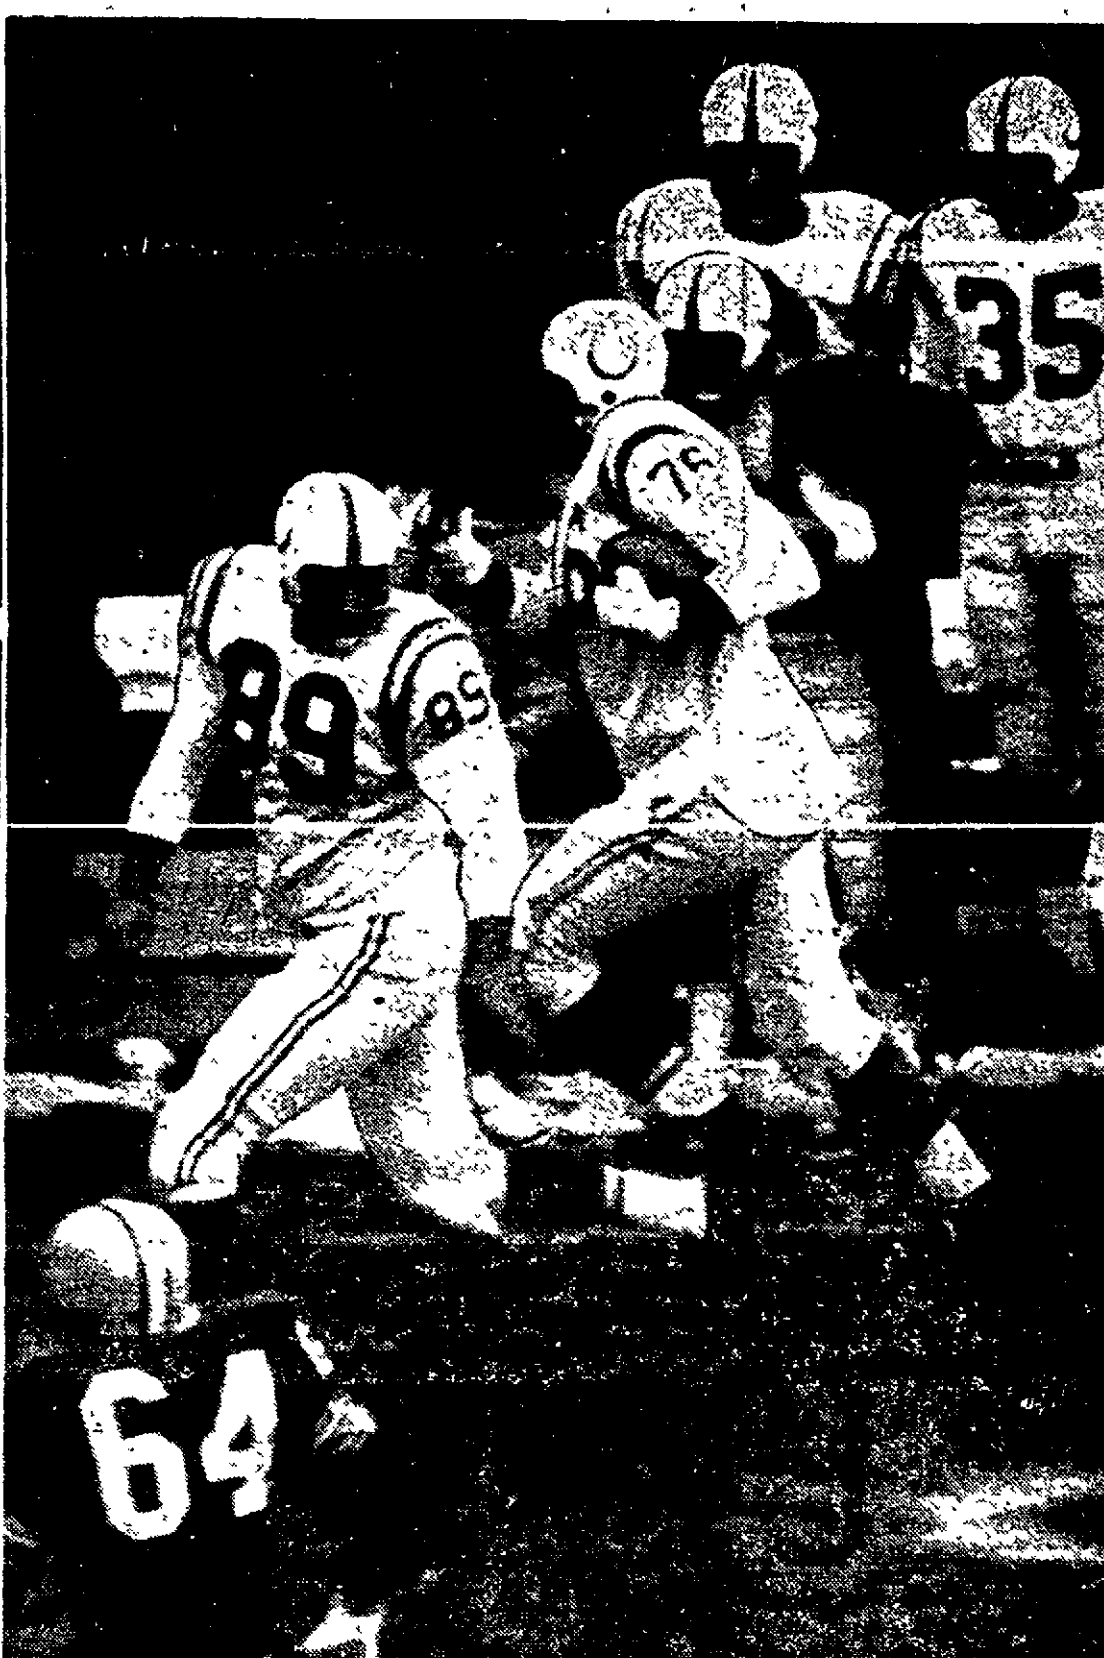

Most of the tournaments on the tour this year have been decided by one or two strokes.

The paycheck brought Casper's earnings to $33,000 for the year, and he'll be shooting for another jackpot at Mobile, Ala., in the Sertoma Open Thursday.

Jim Ferree and Billy Maxwell tied for third with 278 while Gay Brewer, Jr., had 281.

Tipton, Former Papermaker, Banished From Minor Leagues To Defend British Title

Columbus, Ohio. — Joe Tipton, an American leauge catcher for eight years, has been banished for life from employment by any minor league club.

The action was announced Saturday by George Trautman, head of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues.

Two Payments
Tipton's banishment came after a hearing last August when he said he received two payments for hitting foul balls in a game at Chattanooga of the Southern association in 1957. Tipton then was with Birmingham.

Tipton began his professional career with the Appleton Papermakers of the Class D Wisconsin State league in 1941.

In his one season here, he caught and played the outfield.

Trautman's report quoted Tipton as saying he was paid $50 in Chattanooga by Jesse Levan, a Chattanooga player who later was barred from baseball for his gambling activity. He said the second payment of $75 was received in the mail after he had returned to Birmingham.

Tipton retired in 1958. He came to the major leagues in 1948 playing with Cleveland. In 1949 he played with the Chicago White Sox, spent three years with the Philadelphia Athletics, went back to Cleveland and spent his last year in the majors with Washington in 1954. In all he played 417 games and batted .236.

He now is a businessman in Birmingham.

Invite Penn State '11' to Appear in Liberty Bowl Tilt

Philadelphia. — Penn State has been invited to play in the Liberty bowl game, an informed source disclosed today.

The source told the Associated Press that a formal invitation to the once-beaten Nittany Lions was extended Saturday after State crushed Holy Cross, 47-0 in its seventh victory of the season. State's only defeat was at the hands of Cotton bowl-bound Syracuse in a 20-18 thriller two weeks ago.

State has been guaranteed $150,000 for its appearance in the December 19 extravaganza in Philadelphia's 100,000-seat Municipal stadium.

Although Ernie McCoy, state athletic director, has announced no bowl decision will be made for the Nittany Lions until after the game with Pittsburgh next Saturday, the decision is expected sometime later this week.

But Carpenter Sunday night postponed the conference, saying he wanted a little more time to think things over. He said a new time for the conference will be set later this week.

Carpenter, in first announcing the conference, hinted strongly he would say "yes" to the league. He added that he, like others in the circuit, was prepared to run a financial risk to get the league going. He asserted he was reconciled to losing as much as $100,000 a year, if necessary, to get the Philadelphia franchise rolling.

Other teams already in the AFL told are New York, Los Angeles, Houston, Dallas, Denver, Buffalo and Minneapolis — St. Paul.

Bowl Promoters Have Fistful of Top Teams Available This Year

Syracuse (Cotton Bowl) Is Only Team Which Has Been Signed Up

BY ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The annual guessing game on what teams will wind up in which post-season bowl games got under way today.

This year, though, it is even more complicated because the Liberty bowl in Philadelphia Dec. 19 and the Bluebonnet bowl in Houston are in the market for top teams.

Add these to the Rose Orange, Cotton, Sugar and Gator bowls and you have confusion.

As of now, only Syracuse is down for a bowl game. The Orangemen, No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll, will play the winner of the Southwest conference championship in the Cotton bowl.

One source told The Associated Press that the Bluebonnet bowl has the inside track on Mississippi along with the runnerup in the Southwest conference.

The same source also said that the Orange bowl would dearly like to have Penn State, but that the Nittany Lions, east-only to Syracuse in the East, lean toward the Liberty bowl because it's a home state proposition.

If Penn State turns down the Orange bowl, Georgia almost certainly would wind up there.

And what of Louisiana State, last year's national champion and practically forgotten merely because it lost one game by a single point? The word is that the Bengals from Bayou are interested in any good bowl assignment. Their task is complicated, however, because by state law they are not permitted to play against integrated teams.

Actually, this has turned out to be a banner year for the bowl promoters. They have a whole fistful of top teams available.

At any rate, here is chapter one in the guessing game: Rose Bowl—This is a definite commitment, Big Ten champion against West coast champion. Wisconsin, Northwestern and Michigan State all are in contention for the Big Ten title. Southern California, best on the coast, is in the NCAA's doghouse and ineligible for bowl games. That leaves Washington (8-1) it gets by Washington State.

Orange bowl—Oklahoma, well on its way to another Big Eight championship, can't go two years in a row. That leaves the runnerup to take the assignment. This is one big reason why Syracuse turned down the Orange bowl bid. Kansas, Missouri and Iowa State all still could finish second. Georgia, which won the Southeastern conference crown with a 14-13 victory over Auburn last Saturday, should get the other spot.

Cotton bowl—This also is easy, a definite commitment, now that Syracuse will be the visiting team. The winner of the Southwest conference gets the plum. Arkansas has clinched a share of the title, but if Texas gets by weak Texas A & M Thanksgiving day, the Longhorns will finish in a tie for first and will get the spot because they've been away from the Cotton bowl longer than Arkansas.

Sugar bowl—Chances are Louisiana State, just 80 miles away, will wind up there. LSU is a home team to New Orleans and would be a popular choice. The other club could be Alabama, beaten only once although tied twice.

Liberty bowl—Penn State vs. Air Force Academy, a twice-beaten team, but still a big drawing card.

Blue Bonnet bowl—Mississippi vs. Arkansas. This would be a good one because Arkansas will be co-champion of the Southwest conference. If Texas goes to the Cotton bowl, it will be because the Longhorns were last there in 1953. Arkansas was there in 1955.

Gator bowl—Probably Clemson, which can clinch the Atlantic Coast conference title next week, vs. Tennessee, conqueror of LSU.

Texas was the victim of the biggest upset last Saturday. The Longhorns toppled from the thinning ranks of the unbeaten by dropping a 14-9 decision to Texas Christian. That left only Syracuse and Southern Cal among the major teams that have escaped unscathed. Syracuse posted College, 71-0, and the Trojans polished off Baylor, 17-8.

Warriors Bask in Glow of 1st 2-Win Streak Since '53

Prepare for Holy Cross After Scoring 35-34 Comeback Victory

Milwaukee—It's great to win," says Coach Lisle Blackbourn of Marquette university. "It was a great victory for us."

The jubilant Warriors returned home Sunday, basking in the warmth of their first major football victory of the season, a narrow 35-34 triumph over Cincinnati.

"If there was anything in particular that won the game for us," Blackbourn said, "it was the way we could get our hands on the ball. We didn't have a bit of trouble moving against them."

Trailing by three touchdowns and with less than 21 minutes to play, the Warriors scored once in the third period and twice in the final quarter.

Quarterback Pete Hall scored the final touchdown for Marquette and ran for the deciding 2-point conversion with 65 seconds left on the clock.

It was the first time since 1953 that Marquette won two games in a row. (MU beat South Dakota state Nov. 7).

Hall, in playing his best game of the season, also threw for two touchdowns and set up all five touchdowns for the Warriors. He passed 18 yards to George Andrie for one TD and 39 yards to Tim Zhukie for another.

Hall also got off a 48-yard aerial to Zhukie to set up a third touchdown. He completed 18 of 34 passes for a total of 274 yards.

Marquette's other touchdowns were tallied by Jim Webster and Frank Mestnik, both with short blasts into the Cincinnati line.

Warriors go Ahead

The Warriors came from behind twice. Cincinnati had a 14-0 lead before Marquette even had a first down. But then the Warriors went ahead, 15-14, in the second period. However, Cincinnati snapped back in the same period with two more touchdowns, again just after the second half got under way. Cincinnati led, 34-15, in the third period.

"I thought for quite a while this season that the boys had a lot more offensive in them than they were showing," Blackbourn said. "We really brought it out all the way Saturday. I felt we could score any time we had the ball but we couldn't get it for some time while they built up those leads."

Blackbourn said that so many things happened during the game that no one factor could be singled out as decisive. He heaped praise upon Hall and Andrie and Zhukie and Ken Schaffer.

Layne's second touchdown throw, 45 yards to Tom Tracy, ended New York's victory string at five games. The Giant offense, led by third-string quarterback Don Heinrich due to injuries to Charlie Conerly and George Shaw, couldn't get going against a tough Steeler (3-4-1) defense. For the second week in succession, Pat Summerall accounted for all the Giant scoring with 21, 27 and 29-yard field goals.

5 Interceptions
The Bears (4-4) scored in the first period when Rick Casares capped a 48-yard drive with a yard plunge and that was all they needed against the 49ers. Intercepting five passes, the Chicagoans held San Francisco touchdown-less for the first time this season as neither Y. A. Tittle nor John Brodie had any success in the air. A 51-yard pass from Ed Brown to Johnny Morris closed out the scoring.

Norm Van Brocklin kept the Eagles' (5-3) Eastern tie the tops alive by passing for two TDs and setting up the clincher, scored by Clarence Peaks on a yard plunge with five minutes remaining. Van Brocklin arched passes of 40 and 47 yards to Pete Retzlaff and Billy Barnes for scores. The loss dropped the Cardinals deeper into the cellar with a 2-6 mark.

John Henry Johnson came out of the Detroit doghouse to pace the Lions (2-5-1) triumph over the Rams (2-6). After sitting out a 1-game suspension for an indifferent attitude and failure to catch a plane, Johnson picked up 56 yards in 19 carries and scored once on an 11-yard pass from Earl Morrall. Jim Martin's 25-yard field goal just before the half ended put the Lions in front for good.

Packer Rookie Boyd Dowler had his biggest day as a pro Sunday when he caught eight passes for 147 yards. Here, he beats Baltimore's Andy Nelson to haul in a third-quarter pitch.

and three yards and took a 15-yard pass from Starr for the other.

The Colts had a 21-3 lead on Hornung's field goal from the 28, two Unitas passes to Raymond Berry and a 26-yard scamper by Lenny Moore, when the Packers struck with sudden fury in the third period. The Packers had scored only one TD in the third quarter in the first seven games.

This was different. Starr drove the Bays 75 yards in nine plays, with Taylor going over from the two. That made it a 21-10 score. The next TD was set up with Hank Jordan recovered Alan Ameche's fumble on the Colt 34.

Turning Point
Another Colt punt—and the big turning point. Hornung reeled off a dazzling 63-yard run to the Colt 10. Thus, the Packers were 10 stripes from a 24-21 lead but the Colts tightened and forced Hornung's missed field goal from the 22.

The high-powered Colts drove 80 yards in 10 plays, with Unitas throwing to Jim Mutscheller 24 yards for the 28-17 TD. After a dropped pass by Hornung ruined a deep penetration by the Packers with 10 minutes left, the Packers drove 75 yards in 12 plays for a TD with 2:12 to go.

Actually, the Packers had enough offense to win Sunday but the defense failed to carry the big sting. The Colts rolled up 516 yards, the biggest liberty taking with the Packers thus far, including 324 yards in the air (19 out of 34) and 192 rushing.

The game marked the formal start of what could be a great pro career for young Boyd Dowler, the string bean end from Colorado.

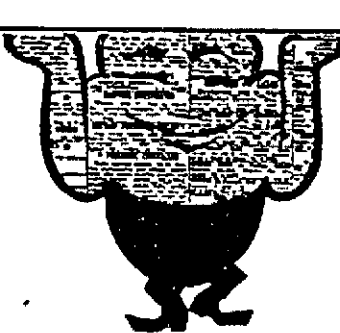

Snares Eight
The long-legged galloper snared eight passes for 147 yards and continually worked himself into the clear.

Playing both sides with Max McGee and Gary Knafele in the 3-end system, Dowler had defensive backs bumping him and holding many times. One time when Andy Nelson was penalized for interfering with Dowler, the fast-blocking pro stuck out his hand in a "congratulations, they finally caught you" gesture.

Dowler, Max McGee and Taylor caught all of the passes, with McGee getting four and Taylor two. Jim chipped

Had the Colts altered their "approach" from their first meeting in Baltimore? "No, they played the same kind of a game against us as the last time," Vince said, agreeing that the horses had concentrated on "the short game. I think they attempted only one or two long passes."

"What, one scribe asked, 'is the matter with Hornung?' "I thought Hornung had a pretty good day today," Vince shot back. "Sure, he dropped a pass (a third down pitch from Bart Starr that bounced off Paul's fingertips and killed a fourth quarter drive) but so did some others. It was not an easy pass. Well Satisfied

"I was very well satisfied with Bart's performance," Lombardi replied without hesitation. "He had a real good afternoon."

He also conceded that tireless Jim Taylor, the bruising LSU alumnus who scored all three Packer touchdowns, "is playing pretty well. He's a real good football player."

The Packers, somebody suggested, should "beat the Redskins real easy at Green Bay" next week and end a 5-game losing streak.

"I don't know about that," Vince responded with a cautious grin. "There are no easy ones in this league. They beat the Colts only last week. Don't forget that."

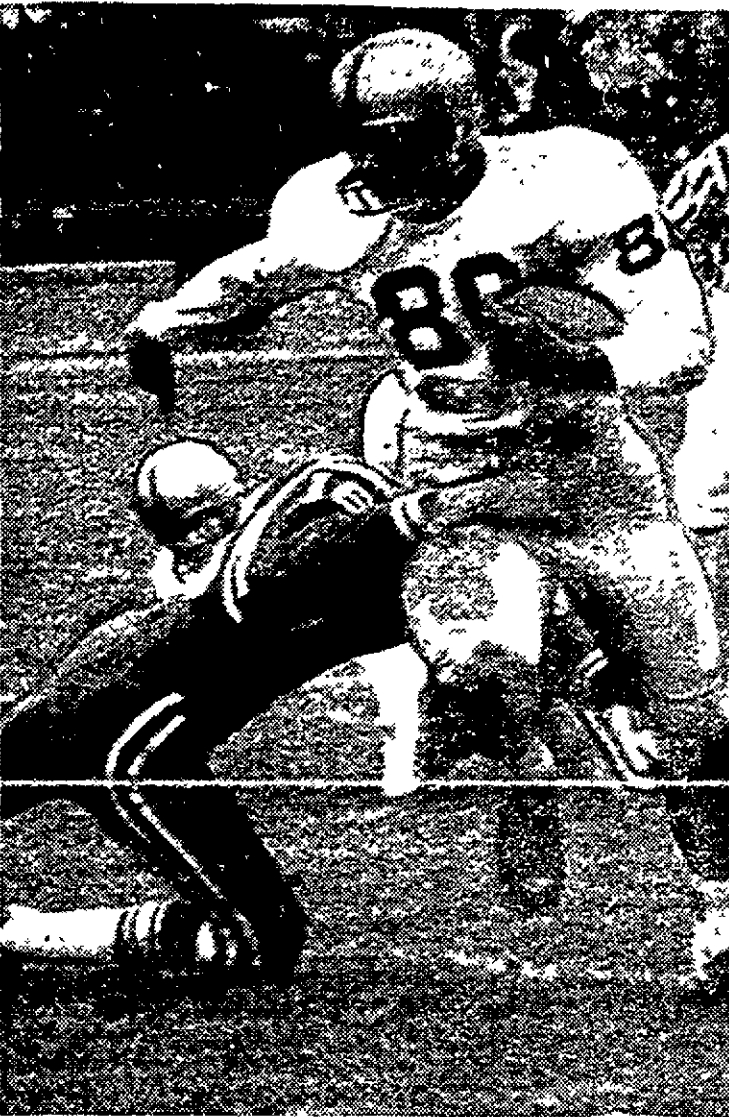

And what, with four games remaining, about the Western division race?

"It wouldn't surprise me," he said with an almost anticipatory smile, "if the 49ers lost a couple of games on their trip through the midwest."

Week Relieved

The Colts' Wilber C. (Weeb) Ewbank, greatly relieved that his steeds had cracked a 2-game losing streak that was threatening their reign and elated over an assist from the Bears in their drive to overtake the front-running 49ers, said the World Champion Colts had played it "straight" with a purpose.

"We weren't trying to clared, "we were just trying to get our offense going after losing two straight. We just wanted to get it going."

This approach, he agreed, had been moderately successful. "Ameche had one of his better days and Mike Sommer carried the ball pretty good today," Ewbank enumerated, "But Lennie dropped two balls that hurt us."

At His Best

"And Unitas, of course, was at his best." "He threw that ball perfect to Ray Berry over in the corner," he said, admiration in his tone even though he is accustomed to such heroics from pro football's "Mr. Quarterback."

He admitted that both teams "threw a lot of passes but you've got to throw in this league. You don't run against these big guys as a steady diet," Weeb said dryly.

The Colts, he added, had made a few very changes for this rematch. "If you change too much, you have missed assignments. By the time you learn a bunch of new plays, you're in trouble."

Inexperience may be the biggest handicap of Xavier (presently a 2-year high school) in its steady diet of games against 4-year institutions. But, the Hawks, who expect to use the fast break a lot, figure to give a good account of themselves once the players from different junior high schools jell as a unit.

Tuesday's games (the varsity attraction will be preceded by a 6:45 JV contest) will serve as the athletic baptism for Xavier's modernistic gym that seats about 1,700.

Players, other than the seven mentioned above, who are sure to suit up with the varsity are Kerry Young, Joe Ebben and Mike Flanagan.

He Learns While He Earns

TWO HEADS are better than ONE!

It happened the night Dick was sitting on the front steps, head lowered glumly in his hands, when his Dad returned from work. "I've just got to have something to do," Dick said. So the two got their heads together to decide upon Dick's "first job." After careful consideration, they agreed that the most constructive and profitable way for Dick to spend his leisure time was to become a newspaperboy.

His natural enthusiasm and abundant energy combined to make him a success from the very start. However, Dick learned the important lesson that profits do not pour in, automatically. They pile up in direct proportion to the effort applied to the job. Today, he has a steady income, a sizable bank account, and a knowledge of business and human relationships that will benefit him all his life.

98% of parents surveyed said a newspaper business is a most worthwhile activity for leisure time.

Lawrence Says
Propaganda Is Russian Plan
For Cold War

Reds Hope to Ease
Tensions While They Bolster Position

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — This is a strange era in international relations. Time was when "balance of power" was the phrase most often heard. This was the balance of military power.
Today the phrase that describes
Lawrence the current objectives could better read
"the balance of propaganda power."

The "summit" meetings and the "pre-summit" conferences in the next several months all add up to a belief that war itself is not imminent and, in the interim, talk is a good substitute.
Officials here are convinced
Mr. Khrushchev is trying to "buy time" and he really wants to use for domestic purposes some of the money that would otherwise have to be spent for increased armament.
This fits in with the American government's desire for a stabilization of the arms race. Budgets would not have to be augmented each year to take care of possible threats of enlarged preparations by the Soviets.
Nuclear Weapons
Another factor in the armament dilemma is the rise of missiles, with nuclear power.
The assumption is that conventional forces will not have to be as large as heretofore.
Many military experts vehemently protest such reasoning as likely to leave America and her allies unprepared for "limited wars," but the governments of the west threat-enly are persuaded that threats of the use of nuclear power will be enough to prevent any major war.

President de Gaulle has demanded for France the right to make nuclear weapons, and he offers the curious suggestion that maybe Soviet Russia and the United States might not always be rivals, but could be allies, and France must be ready to protect itself. This line of reasoning is fantastic, but it fits in with General de Gaulle's nationalistic strategy in endeavoring to restore the prestige of France as a world power.
Meanwhile, the "summit" meeting between the east and west has been postponed till next spring. Between now and then there will be other collateral conferences, all presumably aimed at developing solidarity on the side of the west. Concurrently, there will be some penetrating propaganda operations by Mr.
Khrushchev inside the western countries. The schedule looks like this:

Conference Schedule
Dec. 3-19: Visit by President Eisenhower to at least eleven countries in Asia, Africa and Europe.
Dec. 19-21: Meeting of President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan, President de Gaulle, and Chancellor Adenauer.
Dec. 22: Conference of the NATO foreign ministers.
March 15-30: Visit of Soviet Premier Khrushchev to France.
April 5-8: Visit of President de Gaulle to Britain.
Mid-April: Conference of western leaders before "summit" meeting.
May: Summit conference of east and west—the first since 1955.

These conferences are not expected to be definitive. The British concept, as expressed by Prime Minister Macmillan, is that there should be a whole series of "summit" conferences for the next several years.

As the threat of war seems to have receded, there will be relief felt everywhere, at least on the surface. But warnings are being uttered by those who fear the whole
"talk" idea is merely a plot to cause the west to let down its guard.

World Tension
There are many ways to test sincerity, and thus far the Soviet claim that it is reducing "tensions" is producing more and more skepticism. The only spot where "tension" is being "eased" is in connection with the status of West Berlin. As for other areas of the "cold war," activities by the communists have been intensified.

Democrats Organize Menominee County

Post-Crescent News Service

Milwaukee — Democrats have stolen the march on Republicans in organizing soon-to-be Menominee county, and the party leader of the infant organization provided one of the best accepted changes of pace during the droning sessions of the state Democratic convention.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson presented a charter to Hilary Waukau, chairman of the new Democratic party group. Five tribal members registered as convention delegates, including James Frechette, tribal council president and a leader in getting enabling acts for the new county.

After Nelson observed in presenting the charter that Indians had welcomed white men to America and he now was welcoming Indians to the Democratic party, Waukau brought down the house with laughter at the end of each phrase of his brief reply. Waukau said the Indians must have welcomed the first Republican to America who was Christopher Columbus. "I say that because when he left, he didn't know where he was going, when he got here he didn't know where he was and when he got back he didn't know where he had been. And he did it all on borrowed money," Waukau said.

"I am very happy that at noon today the deadline passed for nominations for state chairman," said Patrick Lucey, state chairman, noting the reception for Waukau's remarks.

Former President Harry Truman will be the speaker for a Dec. 3 Milwaukee county testimonial dinner for Gov. Nelson. Tickets will be $50 each.

Atty. Gen. John Reynolds, Green Bay, warned the convention against thoughts that Wisconsin now is a Democratic state because of the 1958 election.

Reynolds said that four out of five elected officers in Wisconsin are Republicans and "without winning control of the courthouses in Wisconsin, the term of Democrats in the statehouse will be short."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey ran into the tough job of getting fresh stories to start speeches. He told the one about a god coming in a dream to tap him, Sen. John Kennedy and Sen. Stuart Symington for the presidential nomination. Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Democratic Senate leader, ended the prediction by saying he had not tapped anybody on the shoulder.

"Bill, you wouldn't know about this," Humphrey said in an aside to Sen. William Proxmire.

Proxmire told the same story in his speech to the same delegates 10 hours earlier.

Col. Albert L. Betz, director of AF-ROTC at Lawrence college, will speak on the China situation at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Roosevelt Junior High school auditorium. He is the second speaker in a series sponsored by the Appleton Education association.

In Our Opinion The Best Life Insurance In The World Is The . . .
Life Insurance You Already Own, Hold On To It . . . And When You Add More . . .
remember advantages like this are yours with the "Better Life" contract
First year dividends and cash values — are they important? Few companies offer them. New England Life does. Here's an actual case that illustrates their value. A man found himself unable to continue his premium payments beyond the first year of his policy. He died 18 months later. Yet his policy had been kept in force because the first year cash value had purchased temporary insurance. Instead of a notice that the policy had lapsed and was worthless, his widow received a check for $9,775. We would be pleased to have the opportunity to tell you more about this and other features of our contract that promise a better life for you.
The New England Life contract offers the finest combination of guaranteed benefits at any price.

Nixon Prepares Impromptu Talks Carefully, Dreams of Campaigning

BY ARTHUR EDSON

Washington—(U)—Presidential politics is a chancy business, where many plan and scheme and covet but only one is chosen.

And nowhere are plans more carefully thought out and drawn than in the young, busy...

In this season, when presidential hopefuls sprout everywhere, the Associated Press is taking an on-the-spot, closeup look at each contender. Here Arthur Edson, a politician-watcher with 15 years in Washington, gives his report on three days of travel with Vice President Nixon.

ling political camp of Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Right now the plans call for Nixon to lie low. He has only one speaking engagement the rest of this year, at a sports award dinner in New York. The big drive comes in January and February.

Ideal in Mind. Ideally, a politician never sees an acquaintance without being able to recall his name. Immediately, never is asked a question without having a ready answer, complete with statistics, never faces an explosive situation without having previously checked on the location of the fire escapes.

No politician succeeds completely, of course. But Nixon keeps the ideal in mind always. He's a firm believer in political homework.

"There is no such thing as a good, off-the-cuff speech," he will tell you.

Uses No Manuscript. Coming from him, this seems surprising. Unless it's an official document from which he wants to quote, he never carries so much as a note with him when he's making a speech. Yet Nixon prepares his thoughts, if not his precise words, carefully. A manuscript, he believes, gets between him and the audience.

He's convinced that politicians who use mechanical prompts on television are wrong. "Your eyes get that glassy stare," he says, and adds with a grin, "people tend to think you're cockeyed anyway without your actually looking that way."

This reporter has just returned from three days of campaigning with Nixon through snow in Wisconsin, rain in Indiana, fog in the east.

"Non-Political" Tour. Technically, this was no campaign at all. Nixon hasn't announced whether he will be a presidential candidate, and some humorist on his staff even called this a nonpolitical tour.

But since he was shaking hands and talking with state politicians constantly — one day lasted a full 21 hours — this scarcely could be looked on as a lark.

Nixon was preceded by Bob Haldeman, a young New York advertising man who is a volunteer for Nixon.

Haldeman takes a last look at details and comforts the local arrangements people, who tend to be fidgety.

When Nixon's plane was delayed by weather on a flight into Wisconsin Rapids, Haldeman suggested small cuts here and there that would still allow all the main events on the program.

Posed With '60. Time was left so that Nixon not only could visit and talk with Wisconsin county Republican chairmen, but also could pose for pictures with each of the 160 persons who were there.

Yet the unexpected does occur.

A surprisingly large crowd was at the Wisconsin Rapids airport. Many of them were school children who had waited for two hours in 20-degree weather.

Nixon peered out of the plane window. "You just don't walk away from a crowd like this," he said.

Folks Touch. As soon as he was on the ground, he was boosted to the hood of the car in which he would ride. He made a few remarks, checked up to see how many were 11 and 13-year-olds like his own daughters, and said he wished he could hang around for autographs.

"My own daughters are more interested in the autograph of Frankie Avalon," he said, fetching appreciative squeals from the girls.

The only sour note came from the driver who studied the footprint scratches left on the 1960 car.

Nixon takes along secretaries who handle his correspondence, his press relations, his appointments, his research. Also with him are a couple of secret service men. All are young and possessed of relentless energy.

Good at Question, Answer. Nixon is at his best in question-and-answer sessions, and don't be surprised if he uses more and more of them as the campaign picks up momentum.

Here homework pays off. Nixon arrived at the Wisconsin cranberry center during an anxious period. Some cranberries have been found contaminated; the whole industry may suffer a knockout blow.

Well, you would have thought Nixon had spent his life in a cranberry bog. He praised them, ate them and made little jokes about them.

A sample from his remarks at Lawrence college in Appleton, where he was the second speaker in the "America and World Community" series sponsored by the Appleton

Post-Crescent, and the college:

"Khrushchev will offer you a cup of coffee, or maybe something else." (Pause for laughs). "Maybe cranberry juice." (More laughter). "It just occurs to me, how would vodka go with that?" (Much laughter).

Naturally there's more to this than homework. Otherwise our presidents would be mere memory experts.

Nixon seems to avoid details on many issues.

He thinks peace will be much talked about in 1960, and that President Eisenhower's visits abroad will give the Republicans a big advantage.

(This thought also has occurred to Democrats, and in their nightmares they see a Republican elephant flying with the wings of a dove.)

On such subjects as the farm problem, where Democrats already are firing their biggest guns, Nixon says forcefully that something must be done, then quickly says he's not prepared at this time to say what that something is.

Room for Evasion. Probably Nixon has planned it this way. Issues can be kicked in a lot of directions before the national Republican convention in Chicago next summer.

On this trip Nixon was in country committed to him. In the two states he visited, Sen. Homer E. Capehart of Indiana is the only top flight Republican who is supporting Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Nixon's crowds were good and enthusiastic. Every time some orator said the man they were about to hear might be the next president, he got cheers.

Certainly Nixon seems confident. Discussing 1960 with reporters, he said he thought the campaign train may still have its place, especially in the east. "There's something dramatic about a train," he said.

And he smiled dreamily, as if he were seeing himself waving gaily from the back of that train.

Midland Co-op To Hold Fall Business Meeting

District Chairman Arthur Roepke of Clintonville will preside at the business meeting of Midland cooperatives when reports of the co-op's best year in history will be given at the Legion club in Appleton Tuesday.

An evening program at Appleton High school auditorium with dinner and a talk by A. J. Samby, Midland general manager, will close the day's sessions.

Delegates will hear reports from J. F. Shea, Pickett, president of the board of Midland; Lawrence Johnson, Algoma, Midland committee of review member; and Lawrence Niedzwiecki, Appleton, district 9 manager for Midland.

Nominations for officers will be made during the morning session, with elections in the afternoon.

Terms of office expire for Shea, Johnson, Roepke, and for these district directors, S. F. Darling, Appleton; Lynn Pengry, Sturgeon Bay; Henry Behnke, Reedsville; and Harold Trever, Suring.

Two Midland staff members, M. D. Zeddies and R. E. Ewing, will explain the yearly financial reports at the afternoon meeting.

Savings Account Interest Rates Rise to 3 Per Cent

Fox Cities banks will raise interest rates on savings accounts from 2 to 3 per cent beginning Dec. 1, the banks announced today.

The rate is the highest allowed under present state and federal laws and probably is the highest rate paid since during the late 1920s and the early 1930s.

Harold C. Adams, president of Appleton's First National bank, attributed the increased rate to higher earnings on investments and loans. The banks are passing on their earnings, hoping to get more money to invest, he said.

The 3 per cent has been available for some time on 1-year certificates of deposit. It also has been adopted by banks elsewhere in the nation.

Four Schools In Area Win 'A' Ratings

Kaukauna, Seymour And New London Among Six Winners

New London — Four schools were among six awarded "A" ratings Saturday during the Oshkosh district division of the Wisconsin high school forensic association one-act play contest at Shawano High school, according to A. F. Christ, vice chairman of the state association.

The top ratings went to Kaukauna with its play, "Anastasia;" New London with its play, "Moonshine;" Seymour with its play, "The Girl and the Priest;" and Preble Humboldt with "Antic Spring." Others were Gorry High school with "Silly Wrong Number" and Ripon with "Anastasia."

These six schools will compete in the sectional contest Friday and Saturday at Wisconsin State college, Stevens Point. If they receive A ratings there, they will qualify for the state finals Dec. 5 at the Wisconsin State college, Oshkosh.

Roy Jacobson was in charge of the contest Saturday. Miss Mayse Evans, dramatics department at the Oshkosh state college, was the judge. Ervin Marquardt, Wausau, will be in charge of the sectional tournament.

Six schools received "B" ratings. They are DePere, Niagara, Slinger, Sevastopol, Goodman and Pembine.

The New London play is under the direction of Robert Patchen, faculty adviser.

Members of the cast are Carl Fredericks and Pete Sweedy. Fritz Hunrath is the stage manager.

Whiplash Injuries Panel Scheduled

Eight Fox Cities residents will appear on a panel to discuss whiplash injuries at a meeting of the northeastern education committee of the Wisconsin chapter of the American Physical Therapy association at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at Appleton Memorial hospital.

Panelists are Dr. F. S. Marshall, who will discuss whiplash injury pathology; Dr. E. J. Miller, principles of treatment; Mrs. Margaret Preston, R. N., hospital nursing care; James Cone, R. P. T., hospital physical therapy; Joseph Vavreka, R. P. T., outpatient physical therapy; Lawrence Lambert, bracing and appliances; and John Menn, medical legal aspects.

Paperboard Orders, Backlog Climb Again; Production Slipping

Chicago — New and unfilled orders for paperboard climbed again last week, reversing the trend of late October when business eased due to the steel strike.

U. S. Mills received orders for 361,161 tons and the backlog climbed to 523,320. National Paperboard association said. This was an increase in new orders of 33,000 tons from the week before and 15,000 from a year earlier. The backlog jumped 40,000 tons from a week earlier and was 63,000 tons greater than a year earlier.

In October, orders and backlog dropped to the lowest point since mid-summer. Box makers placed fewer orders for paperboard at that time because some of their customers were hit by the steel strike.

Mills made 319,477 tons of paperboard last week and operated at 94 per cent of capacity, down from 332,303 and 96 per cent the week before. Output totaled 311,196 tons a year earlier.

Building Doubles In Grand Chute For October

Building in the town of Grand Chute during October was more than double the October, 1958, total of $138,500.

Permits for eight new homes and the new Appleton curling club building are included in the current October total of $389,580.

Home permits were issued to Jim Bresl, Roselawn plan, $12,000; Ray Jarchow, Oneida Park, $18,000; George Seeger, Northland avenue, $20,500; Donald Ray, Oneida Park, $16,000; James Winsted, Oneida Park, $15,000; Clifford A. Wolslegel, at Park View Terrace, $16,500, and on Apple Creek road, $17,000; and James Felton, section 1 of JJ, $13,000.

Construction of two garages will cost $840.

A warehouse and garage at Elm Tree Bakery will cost an estimated $225,000. The curling club building, viewing rooms and locker rooms as figured at $30,000. A 4-room motel and utility room for Donald Goodman is estimated at $5,000. A greenhouse boiler room addition for Lawrence Neidzwiecki, E. Northland avenue, is figured at $750.

Shares Ease; Trade Active

Losses Range From Fractions To About Point

New York — The stock market lost some more ground in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

A few specially recommended stocks spurred but the pivotal industrials and rails slid lower.

Losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point. The gainers picked up as much as 2 or 3 points.

Steels, most motors, chemicals, oils and airlines declined. The electronics showed spotty strength. Tobacco was a bit higher. Nonferrous metals improved irregularly.

The market was mixed at the start with the ticker tape late briefly. Gradually the market tone became lower in erratic bursts of trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 70 cents to $221 with the industrials down 80 cents, the rails down 60 cents and the utilities down 40.

U. S. government bonds showed a softer tone.

Thief Loots Cash Cabinet at Bakery

A thief took about $21.85 from a locked combination desk, safe and filing cabinet at the Bake Rite company, 1717 W. College avenue, last weekend.

The cashbox portion of the desk was pried open. A driver told police that the box was hard to lock Saturday morning. The thief left $11 in the cashbox, police were told. No signs of a forced entry into the building were found.

Young Republicans To Discuss Taxes

The state tax problem will be the topic of discussion when the Outagamie County Young Republican club meets at 7:30 p. m. today in Committee Room B at Appleton City hall. James Erdt, 1628 S. Willie street, is chairman.

Forfeits Bond

Roger L. Zeise, 22, Green Bay, failed to appear for trial today and forfeited $78.95 bond on a charge of driving after his driver's license had been revoked. Zeise was arrested by county police May 17 in the town of Kaukauna and subsequently denied the revocation charge. In addition to forfeiting, Zeise's driver's license was revoked and an additional year.

School Given Painting by Coated Paper

One of the most significant art contributions ever received by Appleton public schools has been given by the Appleton Coated Paper company to the new Huntley school, Miss Monica Cooney, elementary art coordinator, announced.

It is a painting, "Night Ride," by Thomas M. Dietrich, artist in residence at Lawrence college and a nationally-known exhibitor.

"This is the first time a Fox Cities industry has become a patron of the arts for the schools," Miss Cooney said. "It is a laudable contribution, which we encourage wholeheartedly, for it gives the children a chance to grow esthetically by seeing a real painting of quality."

Miss Cooney added the school system always is trying to obtain good works of art by reputable, accepted artists to enhance the artistic growth of Appleton children.

Dietrich's painting was inspired by the summer rides in Telulah park, she said. "The rides have great appeal to children and bring out to them the fact that painting is in your own back yard," she added.

The painting was presented to Huntley school this week by Richard W. Mahony, president and general manager of Appleton Coated Paper company.

Clever 'Whereabouts' Dial Keeps Track of Youngsters

BY CAPPY DICK

A "Whereabouts" dial tells your friends who come to see you just where you are and what time you will be back.

The dial is made from a round piece of wood sandpapered smooth. The clock-like figures on it can be burned into it with your woodburning pencil, or can be painted. The completed dial is nailed to a post as in Figure 3, or may be nailed flat to the top of a stump. In either case, one of the wooden hands points to the place where you have gone and the other points to the time when you will return.

The dial should be divided into 12 sections as in Figure 1. Number each section as shown. Each number represents one hour of the day. At the wide end of each section print the name of a place where you are most likely to be when you are away from home—store, scout meeting, playground, and so on.

The hands of the dial can be cut from the thin wood of a fruit basket, or from tin. With paint print the words "Gone to" on one hand and "Back at" on the other. Make a hole in the end of each hand (Figure 2) and fasten both to the face of the dial with a nail pounded into its center. The nail should fit the holes in the hands snugly enough so they cannot easily be turned after you have set them.

Whenever you leave home, set the hands for the place you have gone and the time you will return.

Set the hands to indicate your whereabouts for family and friends.

State CD Will Discuss Survival Plan for Counties

Andrew J. Schiltz, Outagamie county's civil defense coordinator, will be in Green Bay Tuesday for the state civil defense office's explanation of the final Wisconsin survival plan and the Green Bay target and Northeast reception areas plans.

The meeting will consider aspects of the operational survival plan and how specific counties will function in case of an emergency. The afternoon session will be workshop during which state CD representatives will discuss with local and county coordinators and directors current problems in health, welfare, auxiliary police and fire services.

Schiltz said all Outagamie county's municipal directors are invited to the session.

UW Alums to Get New Headquarters

A year-long, nationwide campaign to raise $235,000 for an alumni headquarters building at the University of Wisconsin came to a successful conclusion Saturday morning.

Dr. John A. Keenan, campaign chairman, announced the total amount collected and pledged was $240,360.

Personal contributions from former students accounted for virtually all the money raised. No appeal was made to business firms and corporations.

A $20 gift from Walter H. Brumund, Appleton attorney, was the first contribution to boost the donations over the goal of $235,000.

Brumund was given free tickets to the homecoming game and Mrs. Brumund received a chrysanthemum.

The money will be used to build and equip an alumni house which will serve as headquarters for alumni activities and for the university's alumni records office.

Trailer Skids

A house trailer towed behind a station wagon driven by Donald W. Hanson, 36, route 2, Neenah, skidded 150 feet, broke loose from the car and rolled over about three-fourths of a mile north of Highway 10 on Highway 41 Friday.

Sister M. Girard Dies in Milwaukee

Sister M. Girard, Sisters of Notre Dame, who had taught the sixth grade at Sacred Heart Catholic school here for the last two years, died Saturday while visiting the order's mother house in Milwaukee. Sister Girard had a heart condition.

A requiem mass was said by Monsig. Emil J. Schmidt at Sacred Heart this morning and funeral services were at 9 a. m. today at Elm Grove. Sisters of Sacred Heart attended the funeral.

Probation Given Man Who Threatened Wife

Forbes L. Prouse, 40, route 1, Appleton, was placed on a year's probation after sentence was withheld today in municipal court on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Prouse was taken into custody Saturday night after his wife, Shirley, told county police that her husband had attempted to break her arms at their home.

Would Revise Rates

NAM Seeks Quick Cut In U. S. Income Levies

Washington — Prompt to be no reason why the congressional action to reduce income taxes was urged today by the National Association of Manufacturers.

A thorough revamping of tax rates should boost annual personal incomes by at least $40 billion within eight years, the NAM said.

The association's views were presented to the house ways and means committee by John C. Davidson, vice president of the NAM's government finance division. The committee opened a 5-week tax study hearing today.

Davidson said that removal of the present tax system's "serious impediments to economic progress" would provide for an annual economic growth rate much higher than the 3 per cent of recent years.

"Under a reformed tax rate structure," Davidson said, "there certainly would be a 4 per cent instead of a 3 per cent growth rate would mean an annual addition to total personal income equal to the present $40 billion personal tax bill in about eight years."

"If the average growth rate should go as high as 5 per cent, in eight years the addition to personal income would equal the present total federal tax bill of nearly $80 billion."

Davidson said all gross is dependent upon capital and "reward" incentives. Present tax rates, he added, restrict capital accumulation and restrain incentives.

Davidson did not suggest specific amounts for tax reductions. But he said: "The critical component of thorough tax rate reform is substantial compression of the entire range of rate graduation through the middle and higher brackets. Rate reform could include significant, but not drastic, reduction in the first bracket rate, and it should include significant reduction in the combined top rate of corporate tax."

Kiwanis to Meet at All Saints Church

The Appleton Kiwanis club Wednesday noon dinner meeting will be held at All Saints Episcopal church, 400 E. College avenue, this week, instead of at the Conway hotel.

Guest speaker will be the John R. Lockman, a lay missionary to Pakistan, who will speak on "Christianity in Pakistan."
